Why Are We On Formosa?

It irritates many Americans that an island called Formosa (Beautiful Isle), is one of our problems.

It angers some to the point of apoplexy that the guns which now sound about some of the smaller islands which fringe it, have killed Americans on those far-distant spots of land, tiny dots on the map, if one cares to look.

And for the White House and for our makers of policy, it must be extremely frustrating. The guns have begun to shoot. And when the guns begin to shoot and the patrol bombers fall wounded or burning from the sky, they know that more guns may begin to shoot in other places and the air to fill with the sound of wasping, whining jet bombers and insect-like fighting craft.

We know why Chiang Kai-shek is there.

He fled there, escaping the mainland where his corrupt and inefficient government failed to win the confidence and support of a people made weary by generations of war lords, the invasion by the Japanese and, finally, the great war itself and their own civil war between Communists and Nationalists.

Apathy

Whatever else contributed to the collapse of Chiang Kai-shek, the basic reason was the simple fact that the people did not trust him or his government.

So, Chiang fled with the remnants of his army and government, to Formosa—100 miles from the mainland. Formosa is roughly 13,000 square miles. It includes the Pescadores, which lie 30 miles off shore, and a belt of some 20-odd islands along the Chinese coast from hard-by Amoy northward past Wenchow. The big guns echo among them. American soldiers have died there.

The Nationalists are growing restive. The army is growing old—as armies go. Middle-aged men do not make the best soldiers. But they all dream of the day when some miracle will happen to enable them to return to the mainland and to their native farms, villages and cities.

There is just one way they can go—in an invasion backed by the full might of the United States Navy, Air Force and invasion Army.

So, human nature being what it is, they wish mightily for the third great war to begin.

Why?

Why are we on Formosa?

Why does our fleet patrol the waters about it, preventing the Chinese Reds from invading it, looting and killing?

There are two possible answers.

But each produces questions.

If, for example, we are there merely for purposes of defense, why do we not go ahead and put Formosa under the trusteeship of the United Nations, as we have done in other areas, and exact a pledge from the Communists not to attack it?

The answer to that is that Chiang Kai-shek would resist. He is not popular on Formosa. Nor is his government. If there were a U.N. trusteeship he would no longer govern. So the question arises why, if we maintain him, do we not insist that his government be reformed?

The second question is, "If we are not on Formosa merely for defense, are we maintaining it as an invasion base against China's mainland?"

We plan no invasion. And we know Chiang alone cannot invade.

These are questions the Reds cleverly pose to other Asians. "Why does the American fleet protect Formosa? Why are Americans there?"

There were sound defensive reasons for holding the island—it is part of the Asian island defense system. But the atomic bombs make it less valuable.

Nonetheless, we hold on because there is no way to let go. It is one of the bears we have by the tail. Last year it cost U.S. taxpayers $300,000,000. This year it will take $400,000,000.

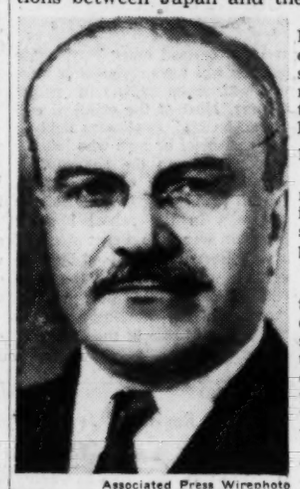

And the big guns are shooting in the islands.

And inaction can't continue much longer.

U.S. Holds Down Japan, Reds Say; Ask Normal Ties

By KENNETH BRODNEY

MOSCOW, Sept. 12 (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov said today that the United States is trying to keep Japan in the position of a "dependent country," and that "the time is ripe" for the establishment of normal relations between Japan and the Soviet Union.

TO JAPAN: SOFT WORDS
Russia's Molotov

Molotov said Japan "cannot long remain in such a position of a semi-occupied country." He said Russia was ready to normalize relations "considering that Japan will display a similar readiness."

EDITOR ASKS

The Soviet foreign minister made the statements in answering questions submitted by Mitsuri Suzuki, editor of the Japanese newspaper Subu Nippon Shimbun.

He said the "main obstacle" to the establishment of normal diplomatic relations between Russia and Japan was that "certain Japanese circles follow the dictate of U. S. ruling circles which seek to keep Japan in the position of a dependent country."

ARMS SLASHED

Molotov was asked to give his opinion on the question of armed forces for Japan's defense.

He said:

"The USSR stands for substantial reduction of armaments. At the same time, the USSR proceeds from the premise that every sovereign state may have the necessary armed forces for self-defense. As is known, the proposals of the Soviet government peace treaty with Japan provide that an independent, peaceable democratic Japan may have the necessary armed forces for self-defense."

On the question of cultural ties between Japan and Russia, Molotov said: "The expansion of cultural ties will have a possitive influence toward strengthening genuinely friendly relations between Japan and the USSR even if the establishment of normal relations between our two countries is not expected in the near future."

Molotov said that if the question of lack of normal relations is solved, then "concrete questions between the two countries could be examined."

Ike Has Lost Dixie, Says Talmadge

Gov. Talmadge told a nation-wide television audience Sunday that if President Eisenhower were seeking reelection now he could not carry a single Southern state.

Telecasting from Washington, Talmadge gave two reasons:

1. The President's flexible support farm policy.

2. The fact that the Supreme Court's school segregation decision was made under a Republican administration and the opinion was read by an Eisenhower appointee, Chief Justice Earl Warren.

Although Eisenhower still is popular personally, Talmadge said, the Republicans will suffer politically in the South because of the decision of the court.

The governor and Mrs. Talmadge arrived in Atlanta at 4:30 p.m. Sunday by plane. Asked if he would accept a suggested appointment as "good-will ambassador" from Gov.-Nominate Marvin Griffin, Talmadge told The Constitution:

"I am deeply grateful to Marvin, and I'll help in promoting the state in any way I can."

However, he said he would accept no salary. Griffin had offered the governor a salary to

Edna Swirls Into Canada; 20 Dead

6th Hurricane Breaks Up in Gulf

PORTLAND, Maine, Sept. 12 (AP)—Hurricane Edna swirled into the Canadian maritime provinces today, leaving at least 20 persons dead and $50,000,000 in damage in its path along the Eastern Seaboard.

Maine was hardest hit by the fifth hurricane of the season. Police said at least six were drowned and seven were missing throughout the state. Elsewhere, 14 deaths were attributed directly or indirectly to the furious storm.

It was feared that the missing were victims of flash floods which washed out bridges and stalled hundreds of automobiles in hard-hit eastern Maine.

HIGHWAYS CLOSED

Highways were closed to all but emergency vehicles and "necessary traffic."

As Edna hurled into Canada a state of emergency was declared in the southeastern area of Nova Scotia. But hurricane hunters had good news for the storm-pounded East Coast. Hurricane Florence—sixth tropical storm which was spawned even as Edna wrought destruction and death—was reported dissipated in the Gulf of Mexico.

Though a Weather Bureau advisory said the new storm broke up before it struck land in the vicinity of Tuxpan, Mexico, reports from Tampico said the tropical disturbance brought torrential rains, flooded rivers and drove many from their homes.

UNDER WATER

One-third of Tampico and its sister city of Madero were reported under "six inches to three feet" of water.

The city of Tuxpan, 100 miles south of Tampico, was also reported being battered by the storm.

Edna, meanwhile, roared into the Bay of Fundy, dividing New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, and sent winds of 85 miles an hour ripping through Yarmouth, N.S.

Peiping Frees 3 Americans Held for More Than Year

LONDON, Sept. 12 (AP)—Two American newsmen and a former sea captain, held in Communist China for more than a year, have been deported, Peiping radio said today.

They are Richard Applegate, Hong Kong correspondent of the National Broadcasting Co., Donald Dixon, International News Service correspondent, and Benjamin Krasner, former sea captain.

The Communist broadcast said the Chinese Ministry of Public Security recently ordered their deportation and confiscation of their American yacht "Kert," instructing local public security authorities in the province of Kwantung to carry out the order.

Dulles Doubts Early Invasion Of Quemoy or Formosa; FBI Ready To Erase Reds in U.S.

Ike Briefed On Drive By Hoover

New York Times News Service
Special to The Atlanta Constitution

DENVER, Sept. 12—The Justice Department is preparing a stepped-up anti-Communist program with the objective of "utterly destroying the Communist Party, U.S.A."

Atty. General Brownell and FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover so advised President Eisenhower today.

Hoover revealed that the FBI already has received "a number of approaches from Communists" willing to provide information under the witness immunity law, which was one of eight anti-Communist measures enacted in recent weeks.

MAKING CONTACTS

Hoover said "we have been making contacts on an informal basis for several weeks," and some of these willing informers have been interviewed.

While the attorney general referred repeatedly to a "stepped-up anti-Communist program" in the making, it was also clear that further study and preparation was ahead.

Brownell cited the law under which the rights of Communist-dominated labor unions and other organizations can be taken away, but he was unable to say how many such unions the department intended to act against.

BARGAINING RIGHTS

The attorney general said that if the Subversive Activities Control Board found that a union was Communist dominated, the union would lose its bargaining rights and an employer could not bargain with the union.

He said the expatriation law—taking away the citizenship of persons convicted of advocating the violent overthrow of the government—was a very important weapon. Asked whether he had any misgivings about its constitutionality, he replied, "We haven't completed our study of that."

Hoover, under questioning, discussed the strength of the Communist Party in the United States and said that it should not be minimized because the reported membership figure of 25,000 was the smallest in many years. He quoted William Z. Foster, the party leader in this country, as saying that for every Communist there were 10 fellow travelers.

HAIR-RAISING TRIP— LONDON, Sept. 12—The wind plays tricks with Anthony Eden's hair as he says goodbye to his wife at London airport at the start of a whirlwind tour of West European capitals to continue discussions aimed at bringing West Germany into the Allied defense pattern. Schleswig Voters Hand Adenauer, U.S. a Defeat

By DANIEL DE LUCE

KIEL, Germany, Sept. 12 (AP)—Chancellor Adenauer's pro-American, European unity policies were repudiated today in state elections which handed the Socialists a majority of the votes in Schleswig-Holstein.

By a proportionate system the Socialists and Adenauer's Christian Democratic Union each won 25 seats in the state's 69-seat Parliament (Landtag).

The other seats went to small parties which state officials of the CDU said they would try to bring into a coalition to form a continuing pro-Adenauer government.

It was the first election test since the French two weeks ago scuttled Adenauer's pet project, the European Defense Community, which would have put German troops into the West's anti-Communist bastion.

This state had given Adenauer a 2-1 margin over the Socialists—advocates of negotiation with Russia for German reunification—in his national election triumph a year ago.

Final election returns showed 1,217,497 persons out of the 1,546,902 eligible voted, 78.7 per cent.

The tally gave the Socialists 396,067 to 384,870 for the CDU.

The chancellor made his sharply controversial foreign policy the No. 1 election issue and appealed to voters to strengthen his new international demand for NATO membership and unconditional sovereignty for West Germany.

But he came under bitter attack from the Free Democrats, one of the four parties in his national coalition.

McCarthy Hints Censure Is Expected

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP)—Sen. McCarthy is telling friends he has given up plans for cross-country political speaking in the current campaign for control of Congress, and this is taken by some of them as indicating he expects an adverse verdict from the six-member Senate committee now investigating his conduct.

While assuming the public attitude of a man who expects the worst from the committee, McCarthy remains outwardly confident the full Senate will not vote to censure him.

Steadfastly defending actions which have been attacked by Sens. Flanders (R-Vt), Fulbright (D-Ark), Morse (Ind Ore) and other senators, McCarthy has made it clear he hopes the inquiry committee headed by Sen. Watkins (R-Utah) winds up its hearings quickly.

"The sooner this thing is over, the better I'll like it," he has told friends, with the implication he suspects fault is going to be found

Secretary Hopeful of War Snag

By JOSEPH A. LOFTUS
New York Times News Service
Special to The Atlanta Constitution

DENVER, Sept. 12—Secretary of State Dulles said today he did not foresee any early attempt by Chinese Communists to invade either Quemoy or Formosa.

He said they could not take the Formosa stronghold "under any circumstances."

The secretary emphasized that he was not giving a military judgment about the possibility of any invasion attempt, but only his own observations.

MATTER FOR MILITARY

Dulles said the question of defending Quemoy was for the military to determine in the first instance, although the military's decision would not necessarily be followed.

He said that in his talk with Chiang Kai-shek, Chinese Nationalist leader, "no commitments were asked and none were given."

The secretary had just conferred with President Eisenhower at his summer offices on Lowry Air Force Base, and stopped to answer newsmen's questions on his way to a National Security Council meeting.

HOPES TO AVOID WAR

He conceded that the renewed threats to Chinese Nationalist territory, particularly Quemoy and Formosa, might be discussed by the council. Ostensibly the council was summoned to its first full-dress meeting outside Washington to hear Dulles report on the recent Manila conference which adopted an eight-nation security pact for Southeast Asia and the Southwest Pacific.

Asked whether he was hopeful

Gets Word She's Won Weeps At Award Ceremony Receives Crown From Evelyn Ay Meets Press At Sunday Breakfast

'Flat Look Just in Time To Save Me,' Queen Says

By JAMES F. TOMLINSON

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., Sept. 12 (AP)—She's tall, she's tanned, and she says the new Dior "flat" look "came just in time to save me."

Lee Ann Meriwether, 19-year-old almond-eyed beauty from California, had breakfast with newsmen today on the first morning of her reign as Miss America 1955.

SPARKLING EYES

A warm, friendly brunette with sparkling blue-green eyes, Lee admitted she was not the chesty Marilyn Monroe type. Lee's bust measures 34½ inches.

"I think Dior came just in time to save me," she said.

Her own wardrobe isn't up to date as yet. Today she wore a low-cut off-the-shoulder dress of a red and green floral print. Her shoes were pink.

Lee was modest about her figure. But the Miss America judges thought she was a knockout in a swim suit. Her waist measures 22 inches and her hips 35. She is 5 feet 8½ tall and weighs 124.

ACTING ABILITY

Her acting ability also won the judges' favor. And acting—on the stage or in television—is her life's ambition.

Lee said she first decided to be an actress when she was nine years old.

"I played the role of Priscilla Alden in a school play when I was nine," she said.

The play was staged by Lee and other pupils at a Phoenix, Ariz., grammar school.

Born in Los Angeles, Lee later

New Impasse Perils Italy-Tito Accord

Yugoslav Territorial Demand Threatens Trieste Settlement

By ARNALDO CORTESI
New York Times News Service, Special to The Atlanta Constitution

ROME, Sept. 12—Italian-Yugoslav negotiations over Trieste have run into 11th-hour difficulties that have imperiled their successful conclusion.

Political and diplomatic circles in Rome feel that if a solution is not reached in near future it may be indefinitely postponed. The general impression also is that the negotiations are so thoroughly stalled that a solution is unlikely unless the United States and Britain intervene with the full weight of their authority to get them going again.

A NEW DEMAND

The next move is up to Italy, which recently received Yugoslavia's latest proposals, accompanied by a take-it-or-leave-it proviso. After recapitulating all the points on which the two sides were in agreement, Yugoslavia advanced a demand for new territorial sacrifices on Italy's part. This demand, by Marshal Tito's government, though tiny in itself, since it concerns a piece of territory measured in hundreds of square yards rather than in square miles, came at a time when the Italian government was disinclined to accept it.

The Italian government cannot be expected to make further concessions at this time. The cabinet considers that it is in a vulnerable position because the whole of foreign policy that Italy followed during the last eight years has collapsed with the rejection of the European Defense Community by France. Nor can the cabinet for long avoid admitting that Italy might forfeit American aid because of her failure to ratify the treaty.

Parliament will reopen within two weeks with a debate on foreign policy and Premier Mario Scelba will be hard put to it to justify the setbacks in other sectors of the foreign field without having to confess that he was obliged to yield on Trieste. Indeed, the Premier needs to announce a good agreement on Trieste to offset the failures of Italian diplomacy elsewhere.

TITO TERMS

The unfavorable impression made in Rome by the new territorial demands was heightened by the fact that Yugoslavia also asked for stiffening of the terms under which Italy was to guarantee that the present Zone A of the Trieste Free Territory should, on being handed over to Italian administration, become a bilingual area in which Italian and Yugoslav languages would be taught and spoken. The Italians, who fought for centuries to maintain their language in Trieste and its hinterland, found this condition extremely galling.

The territorial question, however, is the chief difficulty. Italy and Yugoslavia had agreed that any territorial adjustments should take place along the line of demarcation between Zone A, which is administered by the Allied military government, and Zone B, which is in Yugoslav hands. The boundary between the free territory and Yugoslavia was to be left unchanged because it is defined by the Italian peace treaty and, therefore, cannot be changed without the consent of all 21 signatories.

Yugoslavia now proposed to change the frontier line in such a way as to gain a small locality called Lazzaretto. Though insignificant in territory, the change would bring the frontier to within a few hundred yards of the lighthouse marking the southern approach to Trieste.

New Yorker Given Life as 'Spy' on Reds

LONDON, Sept. 12 (AP)—Hugh Francis Redmond, 34, Yonkers, N.Y., was sentenced in Shanghai to life imprisonment today by the Chinese Communists for spying for the United States, Peiping Radio reported.

Seven Chinese were sentenced on the same charge, two of them to death and the others to prison terms of five to seven years, the broadcast said. It quoted the official Communist New China News Agency.

(Redmond's mother, Mrs. Ruth Redmond, said at her home that she will "appeal to the State Department to see if they can do anything about it."

("I've got plenty to say but it isn't fit to print," Mrs. Redmond told a reporter. "I certainly think the State Department should do all it can to save an American boy. So far they haven't done much. I haven't even heard from them."

(Mrs. Redmond said her son worked for an import-export firm in China.)

Statue of Flag-Raising At Iwo Taking Shape

By HERB ALTSCHULL

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP)—Sculptor Felix de Weldon gets to work tomorrow putting together the biggest bronze statue ever created.

It's the celebrated Iwo Jima flag-raising scene and when the parts are fused the statue will be more imposing than the fabulous Colossus of Rhodes, which was ruined by an earthquake about 224 B. C.

CORPS EVENT

The official dedication of the massive statue will take place on the Marine Corps' 179th birthday, Nov. 10.

A memorial to all Marines killed in battle, it will stand on a bluff 100 feet above the Potomac River near Arlington National Cemetery. The monument itself measures 75 feet from the bottom of its Swedish black granite base to the tip of its bronze flagpole, and each of the Marines depicted is 32 feet tall.

Marines throughout the nation have contributed the $850,000 cost of the memorial.

The 100-ton statue, trucked to Washington from the Brooklyn foundry where it was cast, is now in about 30 large pieces. But 10 days of bolting and welding by skilled artisans will put it in shape for the final, finishing touches.

DAPPER MAN

De Weldon, a dapper little man of 47, got the idea for the Iwo Jima statue nine years ago when he was on duty as an artist with the Navy. He said in an interview he has been working on it steadily ever since.

It is based, of course, on the celebrated photograph snapped by Joe Rosenthal for The Associated Press when six Marines who had stormed ashore on the Japanese-held island heaved their water-soaked, mud-caked bodies into the wind and raised the U. S. flag on Mt. Suribachi. The day was Feb. 19, 1945.

"Yes," De Weldon said, "I am proud of the statue. So was Joe Rosenthal. He came to watch me work and was thrilled. He climbed all over the statue and had his wife take pictures of him."

To give you an idea of the size of De Weldon's statue:

One of the rifles measures 16 feet.

The over-all statue, with its granite base, weighs in the neighborhood of 700 tons.

The three men who took part in the flag-raising and survived the war all posed for De Weldon. They are Cpl. Ira H. Hayes of Bapchule, Ariz.; Cpl. Rene A. Gagnon of Hookseet, N. H., and Pharmacist's Mate 2C John H. Bradley of Appleton, Wis., a Navy corpsman attached to the Marines.

Maine Sets First State '54 Election

Democrats Hope For Small Vote

By WILLIAM G. LANZETTEL

PORTLAND, Maine, Sept. 12 (AP)—Maine, struggling with the hurricane's debris, votes tomorrow in the nation's first state election of 1954.

Although generally fair weather is forecast, hurricane Edna's weekend assault is bound to cut the turnout. It raked the state's most densely populated areas.

BEST CHANCE

Most politicians agree on this: the smaller the vote, the better the chance for the resurgent minority Democrats.

Polling places may open as early as 6 a.m.; all must close by 7 p.m.

Some political writers have said that youthful, National Committeeman Edmund S. Muskie might even "take" Republican Gov. Burton M. Cross. Yet, never in modern times has a GOP governor been denied a second term.

HARD FIGHT

The Democratic fight, the hardest since 1934, when the minority last named a major office holder, has centered on the governorship with the slogan "Maine needs a change."

Republican Sen. Margaret Chase Smith and three GOP congressmen are expected to win. But most observers feel their victory margins will be well short of the "even greater than ever" asked by Vice President Nixon as a "standard for the rest of the country in November."

Nixon campaigned briefly on a recent Maine vacation. Like other GOP stumpers, he urged support of the Eisenhower program. Republicans also raised the spectre, if Congress should go Democratic, of a "return to New and Fair Deal profligacy."

ISOLATIONISM

Democrats accused the national administration of short-term statesmanship in times demanding long-range vision with a "retreat into a new kind of isolationism." And the state election issue, they said, is not its effect on the country but "what's best for Maine."

The state has an unofficially estimated 400,000 eligible voters—some 260,000 enrolled as Republicans, about 92,000 as Democrats. Democratic hopes are pinned on dissident Republicans and independents.

Gov. Cross said, before the hurricane struck, that he'd win by 45,000 votes if the total hits 250,000. Muskie wouldn't set a figure, saying, "I'm no prophet."

DEMOCRATIC GOVERNOR

The last Democratic governor of Maine was the late Louis J. Brann, who was elected to the first of two terms in 1932. Party leaders believe tomorrow is their best chance since that era to take over in Augusta.

Sen. Smith's second-term bid is contested by Paul A. Fullam, a Colby College history professor who never ran for office before.

Dutch Airliner Loses Wheel, Lands 'Normally'

AMSTERDAM, Netherlands Sept. 12 (AP)—The KLM Convair "Vincent van Gogh," taking off from Schiphol Airport for London today, lost one of the five wheels of its landing gear.

Informed of the mishap by one of the passengers and ground personnel, the captain put the plane down again. The landing went off "normally," KLM said, and the passengers changed over to another Convair to go to London.

KLM lost two planes within a fortnight recently. A Douglas DC6B went down in the North Sea off the Dutch coast Aug. 23 with a loss of 21 lives. A Super-Constellation crashed near Shannon Airport last Sunday, killing 28 persons.

$3 Billion Spent Fixing Up Homes From Jan.-May

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP)—America's home owners spent an estimated three billion dollars in the first five months of this year fixing up and enlarging their homes, the census bureau said today.

The estimate was based on interviews with 2,000 households in 86 areas of the nation. It was limited to owner-occupied buildings of less than five dwelling units.

It was the first attempt of the census bureau to collect information on the amount and type of spending in the evergrowing field of home maintenance, alteration and decoration, including the do-it-yourself type of work.

Ousted FHA Assistant Called Graft 'Czar' in Probe Report

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP)—Clyde L. Powell, ousted assistant commissioner of the Federal Housing Administration, was depicted in an official report today as "the czar of the nation's postwar ental housing program" who accepted more than $100,000 from apartment builders dealing with the FHA.

In a report to Housing Administrator Albert M. Cole, the special deputy administrator, William F. McKenna said:

"The story of the corruption of FHA'S postwar apartment construction program from 1946 to 1950 is largely the story of the reign of Clyde L. Powell."

After reading the report, Powell told a reporter:

"I deny that Mr. McKenna or anybody else has evidence that any builder or promoter ever paid me any money during my tenure of office with FHA in connection with official business."

REORGANIZATION

Powell's alleged gambling losses led to a series of investigations which resulted in a wholesale reorganization of the housing agency last spring.

In what he described as a final report on his probe, McKenna said sums ranging up to "four and five figures each" were paid to Powell by "various" apartment promoters who reaped alleged "windfall" profits exceeding 110 million dollars in the rental housing program Powell directed.

The report called Powell the central figure in a "record of graft and corruption" in administration of the "Section 608" apartment program which expired in 1950.

McKenna said there were additional "hundreds of cases" in which FHA employes took gratuities from builders ranging from bottles of liquor to cash payments of "several thousand dollars each."

WINDS UP PROBE

The report culminated a five-month executive investigation of FHA ordered by Cole on April 12. Although called "final," McKenna indicated there will be prolonged repercussions. The report said some cases, like Powell's, have been referred to the Justice Department for possible prosecution or further investigation. Others have gone to the Internal Revenue Service for income tax followups.

The Senate Banking Committee, whose questions Powell refused to answer on grounds of possible self-incrimination, plans to continue public hearings, and McKenna said cases still under scrutiny may end in the removal of more FHA officials.

But he emphasized that his staff did not substantiate any "serious criminal involvements," in the cases of several other Washington officials who have resigned or were removed from FHA in recent months. Most of the criminal evidence, he said, implicates field office personnel or men who left the agency prior to the shakeup.

In commenting on the report, Powell said, "A great deal of the windfalls in the rental housing program were the direct effect of a very liberal law passed by Congress in which Mr. Cole, the present FHA administrator, was a member of the Banking and Currency Committee in the House of Representatives."

Powell said on at least two occasions he had recommended to his superiors that the "608" program be discontinued or tightened up.

These were highlights of the report:

1. Of 1,547 apartment projects investigated, the promoters were found to have gleaned windfalls in 1,410 cases which altogether exceeded 110 million dollars. This meant that FHA approved and insured the builders' mortgage loans for sums greater than the actual project costs. The promoters pocketed the difference, McKenna said, while tenants paid rentals based on the higher figures and FHA bore the risk if the operators failed to make a go of the projects.

2. "Wholesale fraud" has occurred in FHA "Title 1" home repair program. Many cases in which householders were fleeced on overpriced fix-up jobs, financed by FHA-insured bank loans, were ignored or hidden within FHA, the report said.

3. Because FHA had exclusive power to investigate itself, it looked into only nine of 163 cases of Title 1 frauds referred to it by the FBI in the past two years.

4. Private financial dealings between builders and FHA employes who passed on the builders' loan applications "have not been uncommon."

5. Some other current FHA programs, besides home-improvement, have been abused.

DRIVER WALKED AWAY—Like the unidentified passerby in this picture, the driver of this car, listed by police as Morris F. Smith Jr., of 870 Gilbert St., SE. walked away after the vehicle failed to make a turn on Bouldercrest road, SE hit a telephone pole and skidded 90 feet to halt in front of 901 Bouldercrest Rd., police said. Smith was booked on charges of speeding 70 miles an hour in a 25 mile an hour zone. Smith told police he was going 50, had grease on his hands and the wheel slipped out of them, causing him to lose control.

Water Crisis Grows; Forest Peril 'Explosive'

Critcial water shortages and "explosive" forest fire conditions faced a drought-stricken Georgia Sunday after weeks of hot, dry weather.

RECORD LOWS

Rivers throughout Georgia are setting new low-level records.

In at least two towns, the situation has become so critical that city councils have made it illegal to use water for non-essential purposes.

Five south Georgia streams—the Ogeechee, Canoochee, Ohoopee, Alapha and Satilla—have dropped below previous low levels for any month.

RIVER DIPS

The level of the Chattahoochee River has dropped to its lowest point since 1941, and the City of Atlanta has laid sandbags along its intake dam on the river to maintain a sufficient level for its pumps.

L. F. Thomas, weather bureau forecaster, said that Georgia soil is so parched that it is doubtful it can recover normal or satisfactory moisture contents without a "general, soaking rain for several days."

Thomas said an average summer shower would "accomplish only temporary benefit, soon eradicated by succeeding dryness and heat—a trend that has been consistent throughout most of the summer."

RAINS LIGHT

There was no rainfall in most of the state during the first week in September and only widely scattered light showers during the past week.

Last week Atlanta had two showers totaling .23 inch of rain. Rome had .78, Americus .6, Macon .3 and Columbus 1.01.

Washington, Ga., has taken drastic steps to preserve its water supply. In July, city council adopted an ordinance setting a $100 fine for watering lawns, washing cars and other non-essential uses.

SHIFT PLANTS

Two companies at Washington which require large amounts of water were forced to transfer operations temporarily to other cities.

At Commerce, it was reported the water supply went dry and the city started pumping water from fish ponds.

East Point adopted an ordinance last week prohibiting non-essential use of water.

The Georgia Power Co. says that if the situation doesn't improve it will be forced to reduce the output at two of its river plants — Atkinson on the Chattahoochee below Atlanta and Arkwright on the Ocmulgee at Macon.

A company source said the river at the dams had been sandbagged heavily to channel the water toward the intake pumps.

FORESTS DRY

Guyton DeLoach, director of the Georgia Forestry Commission, said the woods are so dry in South Georgia that several fires have been started by sparks from truck exhausts.

H. E. Ruark, fire control chief for the commission, said in Macon, "an explosive situation exists, particularly in southeast Georgia."

Ruark said the situation has been so bad in recent weeks that firefighters would "think they had extinguished a fire, then come back almost a month later and find a fire in the same place, caused by roots that had smouldered undetected."

Lavonia Sets Victory Fete For Vandiver

Constitution State News Service

LAVONIA, Sept. 12—Preparations are being made for a victory celebration for Lavonia's native son, Ernest Vandiver, Georgia's next lieutenant governor, to be staged here Wednesday.

An old fashioned picnic with Southern country fried chicken, and Franklin County ham will feature the event scheduled for 6 p.m. at the American Legion Hall.

A 100-pound cake with the inscription "We are proud of you" will adorn the table.

Gov. Herman Talmadge is expected to be present, and Marvin Griffin, governor-nominate, has already accepted an invitation.

Also expected to attend are Sen. Richard B. Russell, Editor Ralph McGill of The Atlanta Constitution and Judge Clark Edwards of the Northern Judicial Circuit.

The city will be decorated with U.S. flags, and a huge "Welcome" banner will be waving across the business section of the city.

Crash Kills Atlantan; State Toll 4

An Atlanta woman and a 3-year-old child were among four persons killed in highway accidents over the weekend, the State Patrol reported Sunday.

Mrs. Henry Young, 53, of 33 Alexander St., NW, was killed instantly at 3:30 a.m. Sunday in an accident three miles west of Swainsboro.

Elvin Lewis Locke, 28, address unknown, also died in the wreck. The State Patrol said it had no other details.

Neighbors said Mrs. Young was employed by Gaston Photo Co. A widow, she was a native of St. Paul, Minn.

Peggy Bellflower, 3, died in a collision of two automobiles about four miles north of Eastman Saturday. Her mother, Mrs. LeRoy Bellflower, and the child's brother, LeRoy, 6, were seriously injured in the collision.

In another accident Saturday, John Lee, 34, of College Park, was killed. According to the patrol, Lee died instantly when his car turned over. The patrolmen said he apparently was driving at a high rate of speed when his car turned over seven miles west of Fayetteville.

Chamblee Man Stabbed At Cafe Here

A 22-year-old Chamblee man was stabbed in the abdomen and seriously injured in front of a Cain street cafe late Saturday night, according to Dets. M. A. Johnson and M. W. Blackwell.

According to reports, Dan Womack, 22, of 5070 Wise Way, Chamblee, was admitted to Grady Hospital.

The detectives said Womack told them he and his wife were seated in the cafe when a man identified as Pat Smith, 24, of a down town hotel address, walked up and took two bottles of beer off the table.

According to police, Womack said he and Smith got into an argument over the beer and went outside the cafe where Smith pulled a knife and stabbed Womack.

The detectives said Smith was later arrested in a Ponce de Leon grill. They said the officers found an open knife in his pocket. He was booked on suspicion of stabbing.

Swiss Consul In New Orleans To Speak Here

Ernest Theiler, Swiss consul in New Orleans, will speak Friday to the newly organized Swiss-American Society of Atlanta, Michael Hack, president, said Sunday.

The Swiss diplomat will give a free public lecture, illustrated by a film, at 8 p.m. in the auditorium of the Architecture Building at Georgia Tech.

Theiler was for 12 years vice-consul for Switzerland in New York and has served as consul for his country in New Zealand and Leopoldville, Belgian Congo.

420 Freshmen at Emory Expected To Nudge Record

About 420 freshmen, the largest turn out since peak years of the GI Bill, are expected to register at Emory University this week, according to Dr. I. W. Brock, registrar. Registration begins Tuesday and classes open Sept. 20.

The freshmen class, with an increase of 25 per cent over last year, will include 85 women students. A total of 134 coeds are expected to register, doubling last year's figure. Other women will enter the professional schools, including the School of Nursing.

Atlanta area students will register Tuesday; out-of-town students, Wednesday and theology and business students, Thursday. Registration will close Monday, Sept. 20.

Total enrollment is expected to reach 3,350, an increase of about 200 over last year. Largest percentage of increase will come in the college of Arts and Sciences.

Recount Of Glynn Vote Slated

Winebert D. Flexer, who was defeated for Glynn County representative by 178 votes in Wednesday's Democratic primary, has asked a recount.

William Killian, Brunswick attorney, was named to the legislative post held by Charles L. Gowen for 16 years, receiving 2,922 votes to 2,744 by Flexer.

Flexer said his friends felt there was an "honest error" in the tabulation made by primary officials. The recount will be held next Wednesday. Gowen was a candidate for governor.

Move the 'Bulletin' Away From Politics

In an interview with Constitution poliitcal editor M. L. St. John, as reported in the Sunday paper, Governor-nominate Marvin Griffin has revealed plans he hopes to make effective after Jan. 1. What he has said about economy and efficiency sounds good. Those are subjects for study and for comment later.

There is one item in Mr. Griffin's blueprint for Georgia's future that merits commendation now. No doubt applause will be forthcoming from Georgians generally.

That item is the proposition that the Legislature take the Georgia Farmers Market Bulletin out of politics by transferring it from the Department of Agriculture to the College of Agriculture at Athens.

No one can accuse the governor-elect of punitive or vindictive motives in making that recommendation.

The use and abuse of the Market Bulletin by Commissioner of Agriculture Tom Linder was a subject of criticism long before the commissioner became a candidate for governor. No one was surprised when he made the publication a propaganda tool in his campaign.

Editor Tom Linder left no doubt in the minds of Market Bulletin readers that he considered Gubernatorial Candidate Tom Linder the best man in the race.

In seconding the Griffin recommendation that the Bulletin be moved to Athens, we do not imply in the least that Phil Campbell, commissioner of agriculture-elect, would continue the Linder editorial policy. We have implicit faith in the Campbell judgment and integrity and he has pladged that the Bulletin will not be used for anything except agricultural information.

But Mr. Campbell will have successors who might read from the Bulletin files of the Linder era and get ideas. Shifting the publication to the universlty would remove the temptation to use public funds for political advancement.

The father of the agricultural commission-elect founded the Extension Service as an affiliate of the "ag" school. The son has been in close touch with it, both as a farmer and a legislator. There seems no reason for the commissioner of agriculture to hire an editorial staff at the Capitol, when the Extension Service has competent publications personnel in Athens.

The agriculture school in Athens is in a position to make of the Market Bulletin a publication offering sound technical advice to farmers. When it becomes that, janitors in post offices in Georgia will find they don't have to empty the waste basket nearly as often.

The South Will Benefit From Pine Tree Research

Research, says the scientist, is where you turn when the old answers won't work.

It is to research that industry has turned to make the Georgia pine, now an important cash crop, grow bigger, grow better and grow faster.

The Union Bag and Paper Corp. has set up a full-time research bureau to study the characteristics of the pine tree. The laboratory is 3,300 acres of forest. On this tract, near Savannah, are the trees and timber stands typical to the region.

Research in problems of seeding, thinning and cutting will be continuous. Union Bag not only will apply the lessons learned to its own pulpwood lands, but it will make the findings available to other landowners.

It takes big business to carry on a research project of the kind Union Bag has established. But the whole region down to the farmer with the small wood lot will be the beneficiary.

Georgia Gives Congress Two Bright New Faces

The state will have two new faces in its congressional delegation next year and one of them will be feminine. Mrs. Iris Blitch, who is certainly not unknown to Georgians, will represent the Eighth District, while John J. Flynt of Griffin will represent the Fourth.

Mrs. Blitch may not add strength to the Democrats' House baseball team, but she will certainly contribute her share of feminine charm and political know-how. Her career in many ways is extraordinary. Wife of a Homerville druggist, she has reared two children while maintaining an active interest in public affairs.

Her determined approach to things is exemplified by the fact that she went to college after being elected to the General Assembly. She waged a hard-hitting campaign against incumbent Rep. Don Wheeler, taking her message into every precinct.

Representative-elect Flynt likewise is a welcome addition to the Georgia delegation. Since his college days he has been successful in politics and public affairs. After serving in the General Assembly, he was elected solicitor general of the Griffin Judicial Circuit and his record in these offices led to his election to Congress.

Mrs. Blitch is to be congratulated not only for her victory but for the fact that she—a woman candidate—met a congressional veteran at the ballot box and won. Everyone wishes her well.

Georgians welcome these two bright new faces in the House of Representatives.

Let Trucks Have Priority On the Noiseless Muffler

Ever mindful of the motorist's comfort, the nation's auto makers have turned their designing genius toward the making of a quiet muffler.

When they get it made, they have in mind moving it from beneath the car, where it has been all these years, and placing is under the fender. They think that would reduce rust and corrosion, common cause of frequent muffler replacement.

Not only that, but the new fender position might deflect exhaust fumes downward instead of throwing them back into the face of the driver behind.

The changes won't come before the 1956 models. When the new type exhaust silencer is made available, the passenger car trade will be willing to wait until it has been applied first to all trucks, motorcycles and putt-putting scooters.

Mills of State Grind Some Strange Grist

Some strange bills came before the expired 83rd Congress. Looking through the Congressional Record is an interesting and amusing experience for those who have the time. For instance a measure was debated on Aug. 10 to require the labeling of "foreign produced trout"—maybe to determine if they were Communist.

Excerpts from the debate follow:

Rep. Howard W. Smith (D-Va)—". . . what is the difference between the fish that is spawned in the United States and one that is spawned . . . in Canada . . . ?

Rep. Dwight L. Rogers (D-Fla)—"There is some difference in the flavor. It is just like ham. I am sure the gentleman would like to get Virginia ham in this bill."

Rep. James P. S. Devereux (R-Md)—" . . . (the customers) should know where the trout comes from. Otherwise they would be buying a pig in a poke."

Rep. John J. Rooney (D-NY)—"I should like to inquire . . . whether or not this bill is part of President Eisenhower's dynamic legislative program. . . ."

Rep. Emanuel Celler (D-NY)—"If a Canadian trout and a Scandinavian trout got together and spawned in the St. Lawrence River, and the children fish . . . were served in a New York restaurant by an Italian owner, how would that . . . owner label (them) . . . ? That would be a fine kettle of fish. . . . (And) what about striped bass and pickerel? Are they not entitled to protection against the un-American kind? What kind of fishy discrimination is this?"

Rep. Hamer H. Budge (R-Idaho)—"I . . . wonder . . . if the time has come . . . when it is to be made a subject of ridicule when a member of Congress . . . attempts to protect an industry within his district."

Rep. Clare E. Hoffman (R-Mich)—"If all they do is poke fun at you, you ought to be complimented. . . ."

Rep. Eugene J. McCarthy (D-Minn)—"Perhaps we should add . . . (an) amendment stating . . . that at White House dinners and at any dinner which either the Republicans or the Democrats are sponsoring at which trout is served it should be trout which is Rocky Mountain trout. . . ."

Rep. Abraham J. Multer (D-NY)—"That could easily disturb our foreign relations."

Rep. William S. Hill (R-Colo)—"I think there are a lot of suckers here if they do not support this bill."

Rep. John M. Vorys (R-Ohio)—". . . we ought to do something about these signs in restaurant and fish markets that say fresh fish when they are not fresh."

There's more of the same weighty stuff. President Eisenhower has ended the argument for the time being. He vetoed the fish bill.

Accidents in Home Never 'Just Happen'

A survey just concluded among our neighbors in Ware County, Georgia, indicates that nearly 1,000 Ware citizens are injured every year in home accidents. This figure, having the extra impact of representing a "close-to-home" situation, brings the over-all problem of house accidents into sharper focus.

The tragic aspect of such an enormous amount of suffering and waste is heightened by the consideration that, in the case of each accident, proper care and thoughtfulness could have prevented mishap.

Eastman Editor Explains Voter Check List; Law Requires Roll of Voters Be Published

Eastman — The Times-Journal wishes to express our sincere appreciation for the recognition you have given our efforts toward cleaner elections in Dodge County. We are especially appreciative for your editorial commending us and the Dodge County Better Voters League, which organization made it possible to make cash awards for irregularities detected in a published list of registered voters in this county.

However, we do not wish to accept credit not due us and feel that we must explain that The Times-Journal did not publish the recent list of voters in our papers—which occupied seven and one-half pages—as a public service.

Through an act of Legislature, a law applying to Dodge County was passed, requiring that a list of qualified voters must be published 10 days prior to a primary in which state or county officers are nominated, the cost of which is paid by the county at the regular legal rate.

The law also requires that 10 days following consolidation of votes cast in the election, a list of electors (those voting in the election) shall be published, the cost to be paid by the county. The total cost will approximate $700.

Publication of these lists makes it possible to detect irregularities by comparison of the list of qualified voters with the list of those who actually voted. Also, it is possible for people not going to polls to vote to certify if their names were voted by some other person, and if ballots were cast for dead people.

Credit for this procedure and compliance with the law should go to our tax commissioner, board of registrars, and county commissioner.

Publisher, The Times-Journal.

She Fears America Will Be Overcrowded

Bellaire, Ohio — In 1950 the population of the United States was 150,697,361. Now it's more than 162 million. At that rate, our country will soon be as overcrowded as Panama now is, where, according to "Commonweal" as many as 20 persons occupy a single room, sleeping in relays.

One out of every five American families now are living in delapidated homes, 10 million of which are beyond repair and have to be torn down.

It doesn't take a mental giant to see what's happening to our U.S.A.

Wake up, America!

France May Drive Germany Straight Into Russia's Arms

There is tragic irony in the fact that France, the country that gave birth to the idea of the European Defense Community, should be the country which dealth that plan for European unity its death blow.

One cannot escape a sense of history repeating itself. In the aftermath of World War I, it was France especially, although the other Allies were not guiltless, that failed to give adequate support to those elements in Germany which sought to lead that warlike nation along the paths of democracy and of peaceful cooperation with its neighbors.

When the rising tide of German nationalism under Hitler brought with it the German Wehrmacht and the remilitarization of the Rhineland, neither France nor any other nation was prepared to intervene. Now a majority of the French Chamber of Deputies, to the great joy of the Kremlin, has dealt a grievous blow to Chancellor Adenauer and to all of those elements in Western Germany who want to channel Germany's reviving strength and energies toward European unity, and to link Germany's inevitable rearmament into a common European defense effort.

Not without reason did the Communist members of the Chamber of Deputies, who were allowed to decide the vote, shout and stamp and sing the Internationale. They have won a many-headed victory, over the United States, over the cause of European unity, and over the democratic forces in Germany.

German rearmament cannot be stopped. One has only to witness the explosive rebirth of German industrial strength, and to sense the tremendous drive and energy that exists today in Western Germany to understand this.

The time will come when Western Germany will rearm, whether encouraged by the United States or not, and once again neither France nor any other Western country will mobilize a single soldier to stop her.

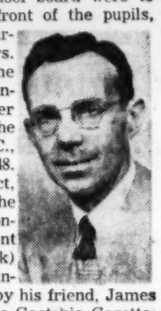

The issue upon which the French Chamber held its disorderly vote was not whether Germany should rearm; it was whether a German army should take its place as a part of a joint European Defense force sponsored by nations united in their desire to defend freedom against the threat of Communist aggression. Whether or not they understood it, the French deputies were voting to let German rearmament take place under the sponsorship of resurgent German nationalism. They were voting to create a situation in which Western Germany will have practical reasons for making a deal with Soviet Russia. Russia can now hold out to Western Germany the prize of unification with Eastern Germany. Having been rebuffed in their willingness to join forces with their ancient antagonists, the French, in a common front against communism, the Germans will have an alibi for looking for cooperation in the opposite direction.

Things have not yet reached this pass in Germany. But they well might unless France, on second thought, looks to its true interests and works with the United States, Britain and West Germany to salvage as much as possible from the wreckage of EDC.

Leo Aikman

Within the Eye Of the Pupils

Neither the teacher nor members of the school board were to misbehave in front of the pupils, at least not during school hours. That's one of the terms in the contract a teacher signed at the Pisgah, N.C., school in 1848. The contract, copied from the Library of Congress, was sent to E. R. (Slick) Moulton, the Lindale educator, by his friend, James W. Atkins of the Gastonia Gazette. "Slick" sent to the Georgia Department of Education editor, Bernice B. McCullar. Here's the way it reads:

"Articles of agreement in 22 Sde School destrict Between Charles L. Thomison as teacher & Enoch McNair Francis Battie & Alexander Weer Committee in Said Schooll Destrict

Sinner Can Know Forgiveness of Sin

"How can a sinner know his sins on earth forgiven? How can my gracious Saviour show my name inscribed in Heaven?" Those words of the hymn have been on the lips of most of us in one form or another. We feel the burden and shame of some wrong. We want so much to get rid of it. We sincerely repent of and forsake the wrong. But can we know, really know, that we are forgiven?

First, let us remember that God promises forgiveness. He said, "If my people, which are called by my rame, shall humble themselves, and pray, and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways; then will I forgive their sin, and will heal their land" (2 Chronicles 7-14). There we have both the condition and the promise.

All the way through the Bible we have God's promise of forgiveness. "If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just to forgive our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness" (1 John 1:9). Certainly it is true that: "God has never broken—Any promise ever spoken." Jesus said, "And him that cometh to me I will in no wise cast out" (John 6:37).

Second, accept the testimony of others. In every community there are many people who have experienced forgiveness. They sing with understanding. "Happy day, happy day, when Jesus washed my sins away."

As we study many of those who claim to have been forgiven, we see that their lives are in harmony with their profession. We do believe that they have peace and joy in their souls.

There is a law of science which states: What has been done can be done. For example, for many years there has been an argument over whether or not a man could run a mile in four minutes. Some insisted it could not be done but then one day it was done.

Now no sensible person would say it will not be done again. Also, we know that God is absolutely impartial. If He forgave one, He will forgive everyone who likewise meets the conditions. The fact that others have been forgiven assures us that we, too, can be.

Third, with the experience of forgiveness, a sense of moral power comes into one's life. Before, we felt our weakness in the face of temptations, but now we feel a sense of well-being and adequacy. We realize the grip of sin is broken. We become changed in our thinking and in our lives.

Fourth, when you are forgiven, you feel it. "The spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God" (Romans 8:16). The feeling varies in different people. Some want to shout, others feel calm and relaxed. But in all there is an inner assurance that is unmistakable.

Japan Needs Help To Dodge Red Net

WASHINGTON—At the moment American diplomatic interest is centered upon Manila where a Southeast Asia defense pact has just come timidly and hopefully into being. And the nation's military anxiety is focused upon Quemoy, a Chinese Nationalist-held island seven miles off the mainland, where the Chinese Communists are threatening an invasion strike in the direction of Chiang's forces at Formosa.

These are legitimate headline interests but the real crisis spot in the entire Pacific is Japan where a rising population and a declining trade are threatening a perilous economic plight — the kind of poverty which is an open invitation to chaos and communism.

The reason the Japanese crisis is not yet sharply in the headlines is that for the past nine years it has been submerged in a sea of American dollars. First, the dollars which flowed into the Japanese economy from the American occupation forces and then, from 1949 to 1953, there was the flow of Korean War dollars which made up the difference.

But these temporary and artificial props to Japanese trade are being radically cut down and the true picture of Japan's deteriorating economy will shortly come into the open. The truth is that Japanese foreign trade is insufficient to buy the food to feed the Japanese people. Japan had a trade deficit of $1,135,000,000 last year.

Japan's plight touches the heart of American security.

Japan doesn't want to get caught in the tentacles of trade with China to which she would soon be required to furnish the economic sinews of war. We don't want Japan to get drawn into a Chinese economic bear-hug which could make her a Communist satellite.

But unless the United States is going to put Japan on a form of dole (which is economically unsound and which neither wants) or unless America is going to let Japan trade more with us and-or help her to open markets elsewhere in the free world, then Japan's only road to survival is to turn to Communist China.

Several palliatives are offered. There is talk of a long-term U.S. loan. Credits are possible from the International Bank for reconstruction and development and from the Export-Import Bank. There is some talk of a "little Marshall plan" for Japan. But none of these measures reaches to the cure of her economic ill-health. The only cure is trade, not aid.

Japan isn't going to sink into the Pacific Ocean. She is going to survive and she will survive either under our auspices or under Russo-Chinese Communist auspices.

Is Taft Bell Ringer GOP Bell Wether?

WASHINGTON—George H. Bender, who is seeking the seat in the Senate occupied for many years by Sen. Robert A. Taft, has a national reputation of a sort beyond that acquired naturally by a member of Congress who has served as long as he has in the House of Representatives, which is 16 years.

It is the repute—or notoriety—that comes from an actor's role in any of the many sideshows at national political conventions.

George Bender was the round-faced, stocky figure familiar to many delegates — and doubtless to millions of you on your television screens — who rang a bell literally, for Sen. Taft's nomination for president at the last two Republican conventions. He swung it lustily as he marched round and round through hotel lobbies at the head of a band followed by Taft enthusiasts.

Obviously, George Bender could use it now — the four-leaf clover.

That would seem a fair inference from a reconciliation scene staged at Republican National Committee headquarters here last week for his particular political benefit. National Chairman Leonard Hall, master of ceremonies, looked on like a fond father as cameras ground away at a hand-shaking act by George Bender and the younger man who ran against him in the Republican senatorial primary several weeks ago — William B. Saxbe, speaker of the Ohio House of Representatives.

With a pledge of support from Mr. Saxbe, George Bender went back to the major job at hand which is symbolized in his Democratic opponent, Sen. Thomas A. Burke, even more cherubic of appearance than himself.

For Republicans Ohio has become, for very practical as well as sentimental reasons, the key state in the congressional elections. As a practical matter, if the Republicans are in trouble in Ohio — then they are in trouble all over.

Loss of the Senate election in Ohio this fall would be taken by Republicans as a bad omen in advance of the 1956 presidential election, especially since the seat is the "Taft seat." There sentiment enters. Sen. Taft was "Mr. Republican" and that title he earned as party leader in the Senate.

On the form chart George Bender should win. At least that was the diagnosis of political experts consulted at the Cincinnati meeting; but they always added, in an uncertain afterthought, that he had "an uphill battle." That reflected in part the problem posed for Republicans by unemployment in some industrial centers. Organized labor, which favors Sen. Burke, is making much of this patently dangerous issue. Sen. Burke will run very strong in Cleveland, and is expected to do well in other industrial centers.

San Francisco Chronicle

Prime Minister Nehru has been expounding to the Indian Parliament his design for the future of non-Communist Asia. The way to security, he says, is by the bridge which he and China's Chou En-lai have thrown across the high, Himalayan chasm separating India and Chinese-controlled Tibet. This bridge, as Americans see it, is a swaying, insubstantial rope affair. After our experience with the Communist Chinese in the Korean war and in the faithless Korean peace negotiations, Americans can hardly be expected to put their faith in any agreement China may make.

★ ★ ★ SEC Football Preview

Only the Great Should Stop Fast-Starting Bama

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Sept. 12—The moon was shining bright on the Alabama practice field the other evening. Lights already winked prettily from the windows of the adjacent ladies' dormitories. There was none of the firefly in the crimson-shirted athletes, though. Breathing like draft horses, shoulders sagging, helmets dangling in their hands, their cleats crunching the gravel, they dragged themselves back to the dressing room, a shower, dinner and blessed bed.

Not all of them. Some of the "fat" men were getting special attention. They'd be along later.

Bisher

This is not an outdoor sweat shop. Alabama isn't mistreating the men who won for it the Southeastern Conference championship and hung its colors from the mast of the Cotton Bowl last Jan. 1. They get a late start over here and work late. And hard, very hard. Alabama, you see, is pretty tired of its reputation as an early-season powder puff. The numbing defeat by Mississippi Southern last year still rankles.

It is safe to say that it won't happen again this season. "Beat Southern" literature hangs on bulletin boards in propaganda centers as if it were Tennessee first in line next Friday night in Montgomery. Some people feel Bama's aiming so fiercely at Southern that it may cost them against LSU and jeopardize their conference title chances.

First on the program here is condition, the key to a better start. That's why the moonlight sonatas and special "fat men's" soirees. Alabama aims to be ready this year, tough as Southern will be again. Bringing up next LSU, characteristically a fast starter.

That makes the second Saturday affair in Baton Rouge a tremendously important item in SEC championship matters.

With the odd record of 4-0-3, Alabama won the title last season They should be a better Tide this season with an offense improved both in personnel and multiplicity of operation. The line is in good hands. It's got balance. Last year it was manned largely by defensive carryovers from the two-platoon troops. The backfield, stable and able in cast, will be equipped with more Notre Dame box and straight-T stuff to go with the split-T, the fashionable trend in multiple offenses.

—It Depends on What Day You're in Town

About the people, Red Drew is his customary wily self, depending on what day you arrive in Tuscaloosa. There are days when he orates on the betterment of football at Alabama through offense. Then there are days when he weeps bitterly over conditions at center and fullback.

A grand jury investigating these two positions would return a true bill. Ralph Carrigan, who also doubled at fullback, and Vince Delaurentis are missing at center and Tommy Lewis, of whom it has been said, "To have him is like having a 12th man on the field," is gone from fullback.

If a name will do, they have the most formidable replacement possible at center, Knute Rockne Christian. Knute is a local boy who comes to Capstone by the circuitous route of Auburn and Miami. He choose Auburn to study veterinary. Just what led him to Miami hasn't been identified, but after two shifts of Alabama red-shirting, he is finally eligible. He is the ranking center, but be may not be for long because of a 200-pound sophomore named Bobby Irvin.

Fullback is in a less precarious state, for Bill Stone, who played as much as Lewis last year and outgained him 336 yards to 224, is only a junior. Prominent sophomores are Jerry Chiapparelli, tough and medium fast, and Jim Ward of Columbus, Ga., a good running prospect.

CURTIS LYNCH SETS FOR PASS
Alabama End Ready for Action in '54

There is no intention of passing over lightly the contributions of such departees as end Bud Willis, tackles Jack Smalley and Billy Shipp, guard Bob Wilga, and halfback Bill Oliver, but the replacements are such that they should not be sorely missed. In several nutshells, this is how you rate the Tide elsewhere.

—Culpepper Ready To Claim His Honor

Ends—Joe Cummings may be lost to the draft, but there's still Tommy Tillman, Nick Germanos, Curt Lynch and Paul Donaldson, all juniors, plus Pete Cook, an outstanding sophomore. Lynch is a driver to whom each practice is a game. Germanos was an all-American prep who has yet to become all-Crimson Tide, but there's still time.

Tacles—This is the strength of the Tide, Capt. Sid Youngelman came from Brooklyn on a basketball scholarship now he's the best tackle on the campus, tough as a stevedore, versatile enough to play both sides. George Mason is one of those steady people who seldom gets noticed. though he got some all-SEC attention last year. Ed Culpepper, preseason all-America in '53, is recovered from some personal upset, weighs in at 243 ready to claim his honor. Leading sophomore is Doug Potts, 238 and a major league prospect. Fred Sington Jr. is scratched for the year with a back injury.

Guards—Muscle-throated Charlie Eckerly, Harry Lee and Jeff Morer are lettered seniors backed up by sophomores Bo Collins ("He's all-American material," says line coach Lew Bostick) and Jim Emmons.

Quarterback—Along with the tackles one of the best stocked positions in the SEC. Bart Starr and Al Elmore run head and head. Both strong-armed throwers. Starr, second-ranking punter to Zeke Bratkowski last year, Elmore a bullish 190-pound split-T runner. Sophomore Ollie Yates, a great sophomore prospect, senior Buster Hill and navy transfer Candler Crim in reserve.

Halfback—Corky Tharp, often called the best broken field runner in the SEC, has gained 1,367 yards in two seasons. He might be all-America. Bobby Luna can do everything, though he isn't the tough type. Hootie Ingram would be first-string on many campuses. There are seven sophomores and Bill Hollis in the wings.

This is one of those typical Alabama squads, Red Elephants they used to call them. Whatever defensive sacrifice has been made should be offset by offensive progress. If you're on the schedule, this isn't your year unless you're great.

White's Clutch Hit Beats Crax in 15th

Two-Out Single Ends Longest Playoff Game, Sends Chicks to Atlanta for Tussle Tonight

By JESSE OUTLAR
Constitution Sports Writer

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 12—With Glenn Thompson operating on a 2-0 two-hitter through the seventh, it looked as though Memphis players would be going home for the winter instead of to Atlanta Sunday afternoon.

Instead, Kite Thomas came home from second on Ed White's two-out single in the 15th inning to give the Chicks a tingling 4-3 victory over the Crackers and renewed life in the first round-playoff.

Immediately after completing the longest playoff game in Southern history, the clubs headed for Atlanta where they'll resume their four-of-seven quarrel Monday night.

The Chicks' chips-down comeback triumph Sunday closed the series gap to 3-2 and manager Don Gutteridge sounded pretty confident after the game. "Marv Rotblatt will pitch Monday," he said, "and Paul Stuffel Tuesday." Of course, there won't be a Tuesday for the Chicks if Bill George bottles Monday's game.

There wouldn't have been any game at all, if the Crackers hadn't blown their lead.

Memphis hadn't shoved a man beyond first till Thompson got into his first and last jam in the eighth. For, after Hal Keller and White smashed singles to start the three-run comeback, Manager Whitlow Wyatt waved in Don McMahon.

The usually reliable reliefer wasn't up to par in his 49th appearance of the season, however, and only strong clutch pitching by Dick Donovan sent the game into overtime.

Both clubs had several chances to land a knockout punch, before White delivered his game-winning blow in the 15th. In the top half of the round the Crackers got Paul Rambone to the plate but Duke Doolittle was waiting for him with the ball.

Rambone had walked with one out, moved down on Pete Modica's sacrifice, and attempted to score on Billy Porter's single into left. But Thomas cut him down at the plate.

A few moments later, Thomas cut down the Crackers for keeps. Modica, who had blanked the Chicks on two hits since coming on in the 10th was rapped for singles by Ken Landenberger and Thomas as the 15th chapter unreeled. Here the Crackers got a break when Doolittle bunted into

Pelicans Grab Playoff Lead

BIRMINGHAM, Sept. 12 (AP)—New Orleans hurler Nelson King hamstrung Birmingham with a five-hitter while his mates bombarded the Barons with three home runs, defeating Birmingham 10-3 and sending the Pels into a 3-2 playoff lead today.

Gail Henley homered for New Orleans in the second inning. George Freese followed suit with another in the seventh, and Gene Freese uncorked a three-run four sacker in the ninth.

Leo Durocher, in a desperate effort to turn defeat into victory, used four pitchers, five pinch hitters and 20 players to no avail.

Braves Top Roberts, Gain Twin Bill Split

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 12 (UP)—The Milwaukee Braves scored single runs after two outs in the fourth and fifth innings to beat 20-game winner Robin Roberts 2-1 in the second half of a doubleheader with the Philadelphia Phillies today and gain half a game on the league-leading New York Giants in the tense National League pennant struggle. The Phils took the opener, 5-2.

Sophomore Shows Improvement, May Start Saturday

Sophomore Linemen Key Bulldogs' Hopes

Wilkins, Cook Lead Long List Of Starting Second Year Men

By DAN KITCHENS
Special to The Constitution

ATHENS, Ga., Sept. 12—Key word in the football story at Georgia right now is "sophomore." Unlikely as it may sound, there is a strong possibility that six of the Bulldogs' starting seven linemen against Florida State Saturday night will be sophomores.

Never previously in coach Wally Butts' 15 campaigns at Georgia have second-year players figured so prominently in his football plans. Particularly in the line.

RIGHT END—Captain Joe O'Malley was regular defensive end as a sophomore in 1952 and last year's regular under one-platoon rules despite a foot injury.

QUARTERBACK—Junior Jimmy Harper, understudy for Zeke Bratkowski the past two years, is scheduled to start his first varsity game only 30 miles from his home town of Thomasville.

Carl Furillo Gets 'Life,' Bums Get Double Win

BROOKLYN, Sept. 12 (AP)—Carl Furillo, given a "life" when a pair of rookies collided on an easy foul pop that would have ended the 14th inning, singled with the bases loaded today to score Sandy Amoros with the run that gave the Brooklyn Dodgers a 4-3 victory over the Chicago Cubs and a sweep of the doubleheader.

The Dodgers also won the opener 4-2, gaining a game and a half on the New York Giants whose National League lead was sliced to three games.

Carl Erskine scattered five hits for his 17th triumph in the opener. Homers by Don Hoak and Hodges helped hang the defeat upon Hal Jeffcoat. It was the Dodger first baseman's 39th homer of the season.

Dissatisfied Bobby Dodd Calls For Two-a-Day Tech Practice

Shoemaker, Christy Top Slim Tackle Crop; Injured Vereen Reopens Starting Battle

Dissatisfied with the progress Georgia Tech has been making toward preparing for opening game Saturday, Head Coach Bobby Dodd Sunday called for two practices a day Monday and Tuesday before tapering off at the end of the week.

"We're not as far along as we have been in any year since I've been head coach," Dodd said Sunday, "And we're not as far along as we'd hoped to be, either. We've had more new boys and more new material this year and that's making it hard to get ready."

While Dodd feels lack of depth along the entire line of scrimmage is a definite weakness of the 1954 Yellow Jackets, tackle continues to be the major problem.

In fact, Dodd could single out only two boys as being impressive at this stage of the game and ready for the Tulane opener.

One is Jake Shoemaker, the converted guard who is working out "satisfactorily" at his new position. The other is Frank Christy, 196-pound Bessemer, Ala., sophomore.

"Christy has shown great improvement over his play of last year," Dodd said, "And Jakie has shown he will make us a satisfactory tackle."

Carl Vereen, the 231-pound sophomore from Miami, will help ease the tackle picture somewhat. Biggest man on the squad, he hasn't worked all week because of a leg injury. That's why Dodd didn't rate him along with Christy and Shoemaker. However, Vereen will be ready to start running again Monday and will be battling his classmate for the first string left tackle job.

Christy may hold an edge going into the Tulane game but Vereen figures to make up the difference quickly. Shoemaker will start at right tackle.

THE CLIPBOARD: Tech will devote its last week to polishing plays and teaching sophomores their assignments. . . . If end Jimmy Durham doesn't get in shape for football play before the middle of the season, he may be held out for the entire year. He's a senior. . . . With Tulane opening up under a new coach, Andy Pilney, Tech isn't quite sure what to prepare for. "All we know is that they'll run from the split-T," Dodd said. Pilney reportedly is installing a lot of new stuff, is having trouble finding a quarterback who can learn the offense. . . . Allen Ecker, 195-pound Atlanta sophomore, has earned the job of No. 3 guard behind starters Frank Brooks and Bill Fulcher. —FOX.

Butts Explodes At SEC Rules

Says Scholarship Laws Will Kill Frosh Ball at Georgia

By LARRY FOX

University of Georgia football coach Wally Butts blasted the Southeastern Conference's old "rule of 30" and forthcoming "rule of 40" Sunday night and predicted that unless the rules were changed, Georgia would be forced to discontinue its freshman football program within one or two years.

Speaking at the annual kick-off dinner of the Scottish Rite Football Committee that puts on the Thanksgiving Day game between Georgia and Georgia Tech freshmen, Butts blasted the rules as "the most stupid things I've ever heard of," and as something that could bring an end to freshman football in many SEC schools.

The "rule of 30" provides that a school may certify no more than 30 new players a year for freshman or varsity football. The "rule of 40," which will take effect in December provides that an SEC school may grant no more than 40 new scholarships to football players each year.

Butts also said that Georgia might even have trouble fielding a representative freshman football team this year because of the 30 rule. He said perhaps the game might be played using varsity reserves and some freshmen. Tech Coach Bobby Dodd agreed that the classic, played for the benefit of the Scottish Rite Crippled Children's hospital in Decatur, would be continued on any basis satisfactory to Georgia.

The rule of 30 has affected Georgia this way, Butts revealed. In order to field a representative varsity team, Georgia will have to include eight or nine sophomores among the 30 men it declares next week.

That means only 21 freshmen can be declared and made eligible for SEC ball. With the normal casualty rate from injuries, studies and homesickness, Butts estimated that 15-18 of those boys would be left in school by Thanksgiving Day.

Once in the hole, the "30 rule"—and the new rule, too—keep you in the hole, Butts said, and increase your difficulties.

"Of 60 boys we have declared in the last two years, only 29 are still in school," Butts said, adding that the restrictions make it impossible for the Bulldogs to make up those losses except at the expense of their freshman program.

Butts added that the problem is not exclusive to Georgia but that two other Southeastern Conference schools—Florida and Tennessee—have been forced to drop their freshman football program this year.

As his solution, the dean of all SEC coaches (Butts will be entering his 16th season as Georgia head man this weekend), the Bulldog chieftain suggested a limit to overall scholarships for football.

Taking in Butts' words was Col. Blake Van Leer, president of Georgia Tech, who also spoke briefly about the Scottish Rite game which will be held for the 22nd time Thanksgiving Day.

Hall Quits Pros, Joins Tech Staff

Joe Hall, a whiz of a defensive halfback at Georgia Tech, who completed his football eligibility last fall, has returned to school and joined the Jackets as an assistant freshman coach, it was announced Sunday.

Hall, 22-year-old Columbus boy, has two quarters to go before graduating. He had planned to play professional football with the San Francisco 49ers this year, but faced an immediate draft call unless he enrolled in school.

Hall, who had been impressive in exhibition games with the 49ers, quit the team this week. On the freshman staff, under Coach John Bell, he will rejoin two of his 1953 teammates, Pepper Rodgers and Dick Inman. —FOX

SPORTS IN BRIEF

Doran, Stephens Top Fast Amateur Field

Condensed From Constitution Wire Reports

Cleveland school teacher Clair Doran and Frances Bunty Stephens from Lancaster, England, were selected cofavorites to take the National Women's Amateur golf title on the eve of the first day's action Sunday.

Betsy Rawls, Spartanburg, S.C. star, finished with a 17-under-par 211 to easily win the St. Louis Women's Open. Atlanta's Louise Suggs was fifth with a 228 total.

FOOTBALL: Southwest conference officials tightened its recruiting tactics when it was decided that relatives of athletes could not be promised jobs in exchange for the players enrollment in school. . . . Rookie lineman Charlie Grant was traded off to the Green Bay Packers in exchange for Gus Cicelli by Philadelphia Eagles. . . . Jackie Parker, former University of Mississippi star, broke open a Canadian professional football league game by pacing the Edmonton Eskimos to four touchdowns in the final period and a 30-11 victory. . . . George Blanda tossed three TDs in the final half to pace the Chicago Bears over the New York Giants, 28-24.

BASEBALL: Savannah whipped Jacksonville, 4-2, to clinch the South Atlantic League Shaughnessy playoff title. Spider Wilhelm's two-run homer in the seventh paced the victory. . . . The New York Yankees recalled catcher Gus Triandos from their Kansas City farm club.

BOXING: European heavyweight champion Hans Neuhaus won a 10-round decision over Dan Bucceroni. . . . The International Boxing Club postponed indefinitely the second fight between Jimmy Carter and Paddy DeMarco for the world lightweight title.

STOCK CAR RACING: Hershel White won the 250-mile new stock car race at the Michigan State Fair in a 1953 Olds. Bob and Fonty Flock shared the driver's seat to come home second in a 1953 Olds. . . . Hershel McGriff won the Grand National strictly stock car circuit race at Macon ahead of Buck Baker and Tim Flock. McGriff was in an Oldsmobile.

Laney Pigeons Take Diplomas

Hubert Laney had the top two pigeons in the 100-mile flight from Boaz, Ala. sponsored Sunday by the Atlanta Racing Assn. Laney's winning bird had a time of 863.70 yards per minute.

Third place went to Howard Mason and Billy Wilson owned the fourth bird to come home.

86,563 Watch Indians Down Yankees Twice

Tribe Leading By 8½ Games

CLEVELAND, Sept. 12 (AP)—Before the largest crowd ever to watch a major league baseball game — 86,563 with 84,587 paid—the Cleveland Indians whipped the New York Yankees 4-1 and 3-2 today to take an 8½-game American League lead with only 10 more games to play.

Early Wynn struck out 12 Yankees in winning the second game with a three-hitter, his 21st victory against 11 losses.

Al Rosen's two-run double broke a 1-1 tie in the seventh of the opener which Bob Lemon won on six-hit pitching for his 22nd against six losses.

It was the fourth conquest of the Yanks this season for both Lemon and Wynn and ended the Indians-Yanks series in standoff of 11 games each for the second straight year.

Orioles, Athletics Split Pair, 4-3, 5-4

BALTIMORE, Sept. 12 (UP)—The battle for the American League basement continued a stalemate here today as the Baltimore Orioles and Philadelphia Athletics divided a double-header to remain deadlocked for seventh place. After staging a four-run, seventh-inning rally to win the opener 4-3, the Orioles dropped the nightcap to the Athletics 5-4.

Dahlbender's 202 Sets Little Masters Record

Atlanta Amateur Chops 5 Strokes Off Old Mark; Harper Tops Pros

By BERT PRATHER
Constitution Sports Writer

CARROLLTON, Sept. 12—Big Gene Dahlbender Jr., who apparently is out to reclaim his place as one of the South's finest linksmen, struck a telling blow in his comeback campaign here Sunday afternoon at classy Sunset Hills Country Club layout.

Playing with the sharpness and confidence that once carried him to the Southern Amateur crown, a semifinals berth in the U.S. Amateur and a bid to the Augusta Masters tournament, the long-swatting Atlanta amateur posted a sensational 14-under-par 202 to capture the second annual 54-hole Little Masters tournament over a field that included most of the Southeast's top club professionals.

Gene Dahlbender

Dahlbender's 67-68-67 bested former Southeastern Open champ Charlie Harper of Ft. Benning and the year-old tournament record of 207 by five strokes.

Though Harper's 69-68-70—207 was good only for second place in the tournament, it netted him first pro money of $300. Bob Hayes of Macon grabbed third place and second pro money of $200 with a 208, while fourth went to pro Herschel Spears of Huntsville, Ala., with a 209.

TV Haven, CP Split Twin Bill

Although Ed Reagin banged out four hits in six official plate appearances, the best Candler Park could muster was a 12-5 victory over TV Haven in the nightcap after dropping the opener of the Amateur Baseball Federation Crest League playoff, 5-4, at Center Hill Sunday afternoon.

Reagin's triple and double in the opener wasn't enough to overcome the one run deficit, but enabled Candler Park to take a nine to seven edge in hitting.

The rubber game of the best-of-three series will be played Next Sunday.

Union snatched the Atlanta League oscar Sunday afternoon by splitting with Simons Service, after they had taken a 1-0 series lead Sunday.

Led by Sam Guy, hitting .500 during regular season play, Simons Service won the opener, 14-11, but managed only five hits in losing the nightcap.

Three Sunday tussles were decided by forfeits. The Killowatts were declared the first half champions of the Eastern League when Rockdale failed to show up for a playoff game. Pittsburgh Plate got the Suburban League title on a forfeit from Hapeville and Post 147 was awarded the second half City crown on a forfeit from Shurbutt Service.

EASTERN LEAGUE
Rockdale forfeited to Killowatts.
SUBURBAN LEAGUE
Hapeville forfeited to Pittsburgh Plate.
CITY LEAGUE
Shurbutt Service forfeited to Post 147.

round player at this position to date. He's backed up by sophomore Wendell Tarleton of Atlanta, brilliant ball-carrier, and junior Jimmy Williams of Athens, who will also double at his regular right halfback job.

RIGHT HALFBACK — Senior Charlie Madison is almost certain to start. Williams and sophomore Charlie Harris, Marine returnee, will spell Madison.

FULLBACK — Alternate-captain Bob (Foots) Clements, senior and regular the past two years, is battling three teammates for the honor: junior Bobby Garrard, Atlanta, outstanding back in spring drills and the team's top punter; senior Howard Kelly and sophomore Knox Culpepper.

a double play. Modica, fielding the bunt, flipped to Porter for a force and the slow-moving Doolittle was doubled at first.

Modica then worked the count to 2-2 on White, before he lashed his single into center. There was no play at the plate, for Junior Wooten booted the ball in center. Thomas probably would have scored anyhow, but Wooten might have nailed him with a perfect throw.

Thirteen Crackers were strike-out victims, with Lefty Flanigan whiffing eight in six innings of fine relief. Flanigan spelled starter Bill Fischer in the 9th, bowed out after the 14th. Jack Swift, who worked the last round, was the winner, Modica the loser.

Fischer set down the first 10 Crackers in order before Frank Torre, Chuck Tanner and Bob Montag linked singles with Pete Whisenant's fly for two runs in the fourth. Rambone then smashed a 400-foot homer over the left fence in the eighth.

Though he fanned only five, Thompson was unwinding one of his best games of the season for seven innings. Len Johnston's third-inning single and Stan Jok's infield tap in the seventh were the only hits surrendered.

Then came three-run eighth, which Keller and White started with singles. McMahon replaced Thompson there and Donovan soon replaced McMahon. Two walks scrambled with Sammy Meeks' two-run single and a force-play closed the gap to 3-2, when McMahon left with one out.

The bases were bulging when Donovan, who hurled 10 innings Friday, came in. After Ralph Rowe lifted a trying fly, Donovan closed out the inning, aided by a great play by DiPrima on Landenberger's roller.

Modica and Fischer then dueled through the 14th, with DiPrima making another saving stop on Johnston's hopper back of first with two on in the 11th.

The Chicks then broke through in the 15th. It marked the third game which has been settled in the last inning.

Charles' 3rd Attempt Sets New Record

Becomes First Man To Try To Regain Title Three Times

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (AP)—Ezzard Charles makes an unprecedented third bid to become the first ex-titleholder to regain heavyweight crown when he faces champion Rocky Marciano again in Yankee Stadium Wednesday night.

The 33-year-old Cincinnati challenger tied Jim Corbett's record of two title shots—and failed as Gentleman Jim did—when he dropped a 15-round decision to the undefeated Brockton Blaster in a stirring scrap in the stadium last June 17.

His third attempt puts Charles by himself in the record books. He hopes to make more sensational ring history by whipping the champ and becoming the first former king to regain the crown.

The odds and precedent are against him. Marciano, 30, winner of all of his 46 pro fights, 40 by knockouts, is an almost prohibitive 1-4 favorite to prevail. The champ is also rated a 5-13 choice to knock out Charles.

Charles was the first heavy to go the route with Rocky since Red Applegate finished 10 rounds on his feet on April 30, 1951. Marciano has stopped 10 in a row since, including Rex Layne, Lee Savold, Harry Matthews, Joe Louis, Jersey Joe Walcott (twice) and Roland La Starza.

There will be no home television of the 10:30 p.m., EDT (9:30 p.m., EST) bout. It will be telecast to theaters coast to coast over a closed circuit but New York City and New England will be blacked out. There will be a radio broadcast, however, by CBS.

Halfway around the world there will be another title fight, Sunday, Sept. 19, in far-off Bangkok. France's Robert Coyen and Thailand's Chamrern Songkitrat will have it out in 15 rounds for the bantamweight throne vacated by Australia's Jimmy Carruthers. They are the 1-2 118-pounders of the world and the World Boxing Committee had sanctioned their fight as a world title affair.

Two kids who may be battling for the lightweight title before long, undefeated Frankie Ryff of New York, and Ralph Dupas, 18, of New Orleans, collide in an interesting eight-rounder at Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway Arena Monday night (ABC-TV, 9 p.m., EST).

In another Monday night television fight (DuMont-TV, 9 p.m., TST) middleweights Bobby Jones of Oakland, Calif., and Jimmy Martinez of Glendale, Calif., clash in a 10-rounder at New York's St. Nicholas Arena.

The Friday night radio-TV network show (NBC, 9 p.m.) will come out of Washington's Capitol Arena where middleweights Walter Cartier of New York and Willie Troy of Washington will mix it up. This one is scheduled for 10 rounds but both are stiff punchers and this doesn't figure to go the limit.

Are Baby Doves Being Slaughtered? — Absolutely Not! The Experts Say

By BILL ALLEN

Are there too many "baby" doves being killed during this 20-day early season?

The U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service answered this question with an emphatic "NO" this week and produced figures to support the retort.

Bill Allen

One of the outstanding migratory game biologists in the country, F & W S researcher Harold Peters has examined several hundred wings of doves from throughout the state already and found:

1. That 24 per cent of the doves killed were adults—last year's birds.

2. That 74.5 per cent were "birds of the year," or harvestable birds hatched this spring and summer.

3. That only one and one-half per cent were less than six weeks old, or too young to shoot.

This, according to the F&WS, is the optimum situation—the best balance so far in Georgia and the dove population is not being endangered by the Sept. 1 season.

Game and Fish Commission director Fulton Lovell pointed out that the people of Georgia, through a legislative committee which met with F&WS in Washington repeatedly, finally have gotten a statewide split season on doves with one half early in September and the other in December and early January.

"Thus," Lovell said, "hunters in south Georgia and in north Georgia will be able to hunt at the same time under the most favorable conditions in their two areas."

All reports received by the state and federal agencies reflect satisfied hunters throughout the state, spokesmen said.

Legal bags checked by state rangers show an average of six birds per hunter and legal bags checked by the federal officers show about five birds per person—about the same as last year. But more hunters are in the field, and so, the federal people believe dove population is in even better shape than before.

In Georgia, where the dove domesticates in many cases, an earlier season is indicated and at least half of it will remain early, according to F&WS officials, until their survey shows a dangerous decrease in stock.

Most grumbling by hunters is about the drought, the heat and the lack of natural food for the migrating dove, due to decrease in dormant fields with feed.

CONSTITUTION PREP STARS OF THE WEEK

Creel, Simerville, Dillard, Wolves Get Honors

By JIMMY MANN

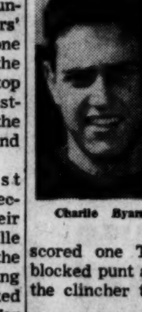

Northside and Southwest, two Atlanta schools that pulled stunning upsets, and Weyman Sellers' Athens eleven, which nipped one of the prime favorites for the Region 3-AA crown, snatched top honors in the Constitution's listing of prep football stars of the week for the first 1954 weekend of full-scale play.

Carl Fletcher's Southwest Wolves, winning only their second game in history and their first since 1951 when Hapeville bowed, 7-0, is named team of the week for its comeback upending of College Park, 13-12. It marked the first regular-season loss for Bill Badgett's Rams since 1951.

Northside, by trimming Griffin's powerhouse, 20-13, on Griffin soil, won for Wayman Creel the honor of being chosen coach of the week. Kimsey Stewart's Griffinites were regarded as the favorite to win Region 4-AA honors. And Creel didn't have a single regular lineman back from his so-so 1953 team. The victory was one for great coaching and preparation also.

Lester Simerville, Northside All-Stater who gained more than 1,000 yards in 1953, is named back of the week for his feat of gaining 119 yards, sparking two touchdown drives, scoring once and kicking two extra points in what is destined to be one of the year's finest stints against an eleven of such fine quality.

Lineman of the week toga falls upon the shoulders of Sonny Dillard, Athens tackle. He not only played a powerfully efficient defensive game but scored both touchdowns in a 13-12 stunner over Atlanta Fulton, regarded as one of the city's stoutest outfits. Dillard picked up a fumble and scored one TD, latched onto a blocked punt and ran 10 yards for the clincher tally.

PREP HONOR ROLL

LESTER SIMERVILLE, Northside — Simerville, Constitution back of the week, used his speed to reel off 119 yards against strong Griffin and lead his team's 20-13 victory.

TOMMY CONN, West Fulton — Conn was the leading runner for the Owls, even though the club was topped by Rome, 19-7. Conn's running set up the only score for the losers.

FREDDIE TRAINER, Brown—Trainer, a converted end, playing halfback and carrying the ball for the first time under regular game conditions, raced 60 yards for one touchdown and scored another as Brown topped Lanier, 25-19.

FRANK MATTHEWS, Lanier — Matthews scored all three Lanier touchdowns in the Poets' loss to Brown.

MELVIN FERGUSON, Smith — Despite a one-sided 32-0 defeat Smith High had hopes of improving on the running of Ferguson. He carried 13 times for 100 yards.

JACK RUDOLPH, Grady—All Grady had to do last week was to score one touchdown. Rudolph had the Marist offense stopped cold from his end position.

HARVIE ENLOE, Marist—Enloe was tops at his end position for the Cadets, but Grady's Macy Moret found other channels and paced the Grey Knights to a 13-0 victory.

MARSHALL McDUFFIE, Southwest — McDuffie paced a second half Wolves' comeback which netted Southwest its second football victory in history over College Park, 13-12.

RONALD PEAVY, College Park — Peavy scored one touchdown and passed for another in vain as College Park lost its first regular season game in three years.

CHARLES SMITH, Roosevelt — Smith reeled off runs of 22 and 17 yards to set up the only Tide touchdown against Baker.

JAMES LEE, Baker—Lee scored one touchdown and three PATs. Smith paced a the 28-6 rout of Atlanta's Roosevelt High.

GENE NEWSOME, Russell — Newsome ran for 123 yards and passed for another 107 to lead Russell over Sylvan 18-0.

RAUSEY MASON, Sylvan—Mason was the outstanding defensive player of the night. He stopped the Russell offense time and time again.

FORTER HARRISON, Decatur — Harrison fell on a Murphy fumble in the end zone for a touchdown and a victory over a tough Eagle eleven. Harrison's alertness accounted for the winning marker.

BILL WHITLEY, Murphy — Whitley assisted in the first Murphy touchdown and passed and set up the second. He was the leading total offense leader of the night.

DALLAS CHAMPION, North Fulton—Champion intercepted a pass in the fourth quarter and raced for the Bulldogs' winning touchdown against Albany.

VERNON GOWEN, Camden County—Gowen scored one touchdown from his fullback post and was the consistent ground gainer of the night as his Hurricanes stopped Folkston 28-0 in the rain.

WILDER DENT, Fort Valley — Dent scored two touchdowns in his club's 32-7 victory over Cochran. Dent may be the answer for Wesley Melvin, twice Georgia prep back of the year, who graduated last season.

BERNIE SCOTT, Screven County—Scott broke away on an 85-yard run for one touchdown and scored another as his eleven whipped Blackshear 38-0 to open the season.

GENE LITTLETON, Moultrie—Littleton scored twice and led his powerful Moultrie team to 208 yards on the ground and a Region 1-AA victory over Jordan high school, 20-6. Littleton totaled 174 yards in 22 carries.

CECIL MORRIS and HAL SAIN, Jeff Davis—Although this pair played on a losing team, tackle Morris and guard Davis were rugged and outstanding against a heavier and faster Jesup line. Jesup won the game, 32-0.

SONNY DILLARD, Athens—This Trojan athlete, the Constitution lineman of the week, could easily be the back of the week, too. He not only played a brilliant defensive contest but scored both Athens' touchdowns as Atlanta's Fulton fell, 13-12.

EDDIE AUSBAND, Henry County—Ausband scored two touchdowns to lead his prep team to a stunning 25-7 victory over Roswell. He scored on runs of 10 and 12 yards.

JERRY SMITH, Thomson—Smith led the 32-0 defeat of Clarkston by scoring two touchdowns and leading the ground gaining for the Bulldogs.

CHARLIE BYARS, Griffin—The Eagles lost to a fighting Northside football team but still Byars was one of the best backs on the field, even in defeat. He mixed up his offense superbly, ran equally effectively and tossed three touchdown passes that were dropped by receivers wide open. Northside won, 20-13.

KENNY McCLAIN, Buford — McClain scored both Buford touchdowns as Stone Mountain fell victim 14-6. The star of the winning club tallied once on an intercepted pass and then later on a reverse around the right side.

BILL MATHIS and PRESTON PARROTT, Manchester — Mathis and Parrott carried the offensive load as Manchester walloped Cumming High 57-0. Mathis started the rout in the first period when he lugged a quarterback sneak play 25 yards to paydirt. Parrott scored two six-pointers later.

W. L. STRICKLAND, R. E. Lee — This 137-pound quarterback, hobbling on an injured leg, rushed for 103 yards, completed one of two passes for 11 yards, made two touchdown-saving tackles from sideback, and maneuvered winning TD drive of 33 yards in 25-19 victory over tough O'Keefe.

JIMMY SMITH and ED PIERCE, Hapeville—Smith passed for two touchdowns, one to Pierce and another to Austin Flint, as Hapeville outscored Campbell of Smyrna 18-0. Pierce, besides scoring the TD, excelled on defense.

MARVIN HOUSEWORTH, Lithonia — Houseworth played rugged defensive football as Lithonia whipped tough Conyers, 14-6, in a season opener. Houseworth was a thorn in the side of the Conyers offense all evening.

BOBBY TUMBLIN, Rome — Sparked by Tumblin and an alert defense, Rome swatted West Fulton, 19-7. Tumblin passed for one touchdown and scampered 41 yards for another.

MIKE DUKE and C. L. STRAUGHN, SW DeKalb — Duke ploughed to two touchdowns and Straughn caught a Tommy Lewis pass for another as the Panthers toppled Newton County, 21-0.

SALTY PRINCE, Newton County — Prince, despite performing on a losing team, took care of most of the Newton ground gaining and threatened to put his team in the scoring column late in the game when he broke loose for 52 yards, only to be dropped on the DeKalb 20.

ALLEN WALDRIP and SONNY ROSSER, Cordele — Waldrip dived three yards for the winning touchdown as Cordele whipped Fitzgerald 13-6. Rosser, a converted center, playing fullback for the first time, slashed seven yards for the first Cordele score.

ED PRITCHET, Stevens County — Pritchet scored two touchdowns on runs of 35 and 43 yards as Stevens whipped Rabun County 21-6.

BILL JUDSON, Gainesville — Judson scored four times as Gainesville outlasted Ellijay, 32-20, for an opening game victory. The husky fullback darted over from three, 27, five and two yards out.

LEON GABLE, Douglas County—Gable scored on two five-yard bucks as his team tied South Cobb 12-12.

JIMMY AGAN, South Cobb — Like Gable, Agan scored his team's only two touchdowns to bring about the opening deadlock.

ED STANCIL, Jefferson—Stancil scored one touchdown and bucked for an extra point as Jefferson whipped Winder 13-7.

JERRY ALLEN, Winder—Allen gathered in a second-half kickoff and ran 91 yards for his team's only touchdown.

RICHARD AVERY, West Point — Avery personally had a hand in all three Pointer touchdowns and scored the third as they whipped Carrollton, 20-7.

LAVON PAYTON, Albany — Payton saved his team from being shut out by North Fulton with a brilliant catch of Jamiel Saber's 46-yard scoring pass in the fourth quarter. North Fulton won the game, 12-6.

FRANK ROSS and SAM BUTLER, Murray Co.—Ross ran 25 yards for one touchdown and Butler popped on a fumble in the end zone as Murray Co. toppled Ringgold, 13-6.

NEW SHOW, "MEDIC," PORTRAYS REALISTIC DRAMA

Richard Bone, Beverly Garland Appear in Series Starting Tonight Over WSB-TV

NEW WSB-TV SERIES

Actual Childbirth Set on 'Medic' Show

A dramatization of an actual medical case history "White Is the Color," will be the premiere telecast of Medic, NBC's innovation in weekly TV programming on WSB-TV at 8 p.m.

The story concerns a pregnant woman who develops an acute case of leukemia, which is not a result of the pregnancy but a disease that already existed. After conferring with the doctor, her husband recognizes that he must tell his young wife, who has waited seven years for a child, that she does not have long to live. The woman fights to live long enough for the baby's birth. Although the mother dies, the doctor fights to save the child's life.

The greater portion of the film was shot in the Los Angeles County Hospital during an actual operation and shows the delivery of the new-born child.

Medically, the story reveals one particular doctor's treatment of one particular case. It is not presented as a sole method of management, but as a selected method of management.

The cast for "White Is the Color" includes Richard Boone as Dr. Konrad Styner, Beverly Garland as Estelle Collins, and Lee Marvin as Larry Collins. The majority of the cast members are actual doctors and nurses.

Medic is endorsed by the Los Angeles County Medical Assn. It was created and written by James Moser. The executive producer is Worthington Miner. The series is produced by Frank LaTourette and directed by Bernard Girard. Victor Young is musical director.

Women drivers were involved in about 2,200,000 auto accidents in 1953, says the National Safety Council.

CHANNEL CHUCKLES

"Our set is like one of the family. Will Blue Cross cover it?"

New TV Program Explores History of Nuclear Energy

Three, Two, One—Zero!—a program exploring the story of nuclear energy—will be a special presentation at 7 p.m. on WSB-TV showing how the life of the ordinary American citizen is affected by the "situation of hovering menace."

It will examine the case of the intellectual traitor, Klaus Fuchs, and others who loom large in the history of these times and show how "security" has become a national byword.

Persons who have figured prominently in the development of atomic energy will be shown via film including the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, former president Harry S. Truman, Sir Winston Churchill, Josef Stalin, Adolph Hitler, Andrei Gromyko, Albert Einstein, J. Robert Oppenheimer, Fuchs and the Rosenbergs.

Reds Can Not Capture Formosa, Dulles Asserts

that a general war could be avoided in the Pacific, Dulles replied: "I am hopeful."

He would not say whether specific orders had been given to the U.S. Seventh Fleet to defend Quemoy or not. That island is only five miles off the Red-held mainland from Amoy.

President Eisenhower has already said that the Chinese Communists, to invade Formosa, would have to run over the Seventh Fleet.

As to the possibility of an imminent invasion attempt against Quemoy, which the Reds have been shelling, Dulles said:

"I have no opinion about that, one way or another. That is a matter for the military people to judge in the light of their intelligence estimates. The fact that, as I understand it, the artillery fire against Quemoy from the Amoy harbor has subsided, and that would suggest that they do not have any immediate intentions of invasions. But I would not want to be the one to attempt to appraise the military significance of evidence like that."

HARD TO EVALUATE

The secretary said there were very considerable Communist forces in the Amoy area but "the information I got did not indicate anything spectacular in recent days or weeks."

As to a Communist timetable against Formosa, Dulles said it was hard to evaluate the Communists talk but "the present military dispositions of the Chinese Communists suggests they do not have any early plans for an invasion of Formosa." Also, he said, the monsoon rains in a few weeks would mitigate against an invasion.

Dulles, stopping at Formosa after the Manila conference, told Chiang that the Chinese Nationalists on Formosa did not stand alone. He said this repeated an earlier statement by President Eisenhower, and that between him and Chiang, no commitments were asked and none was given.

The secretary was asked whether he thought it possible for the Communists to take Formosa if they were willing to take heavy losses in manpower.

He replied: "I am convinced in the light of everything I know it is not possible for the Chinese Communists to take Formosa under any circumstances."

DEPENDS ON ENEMY

Asked whether Formosa could be defended with the U.S. Navy alone, the secretary replied: "I don't know. It depends on what the other fellow does."

Dulles was asked many questions about whether the Seventh Fleet would intervene against an attempted Communist invasion of Quemoy.

He said at the outset, "My position on that remains the same as I expressed, I think, at my last press conference in Washington, when I said that the basic policy decision taken by the prior administration, and accepted by this administration, is to defend Formosa. And what needs to be done in that connection is a matter primarily for the military, at least in the first instance, to recommend. What is implicit is an effective defense of Formosa—is a matter which has to be constantly studied, and is being studied by the military people.

QUESTION OF POLICY

"And as far as I am concerned, we stand as a policy matter on that statement, that the basic policy decision for the defense of Formosa, and the question of what that implies, is in the first instance a matter for the military advisers to say."

As he said in his Washington news conference on Aug. 24, the Quemoy decision was "primarily" one for the military. Today the secretary seemed to expand that qualification. He used such phrases as "in the first instance;" then spoke of "recommendations" by the military, and finally said, "I did not say necessarily their advice would be followed."

He said he did not learn of any intentions by the Nationalists to abandon Quemoy.

Asked whether the decision to defend Quemoy in case of an invasion was not imminent, if it had not already been made, Dulles said that was getting a bit into the military field but that he believed "all branches of the military have orders to meet contingencies of all sorts, likely or unlikely."

Then the Seventh Fleet has orders about Quemoy, a reporter said questioningly.

"The Seventh Fleet has orders," the secretary said with a grin.

help bring industries into the state.

"I'm just going to practice law, do a little farming and sell hams," Talmadge said.

On the television show, he said that "no amount of force whatever can compel desegregation" of white and Negro schools in Georgia.

He expressed confidence that the government will not attempt to use troops or other forcible measures to enforce the Supreme Court's decision outlawing school segregation, but said any such attempt would bring "the most dreadful thing we have known since Reconstruction."

"WANT TO CONTINUE"

Both white and Negro residents of Georgia, he said, "know and want to continue" the separate social systems which have been in effect for the last 200 years.

Talmadge, whose term expires in January, told a radio-TV audience (NBC's Youth Wants to Know) that he is confident the new state administration will carry on the present system.

As for arguments that segregation of the races gives the Communists an opening for progaganda, he commented that "I am not interested in pleasing Communists here or abroad."

"It makes no difference what our people do," he said, contending that Communists will always find something to criticize.

$200 MILLION

Talmadge said Georgia is spending 200 million dollars for new school buildings, most of them for Negroes, and pays Negro teachers on the same scale as white instructors.

The state is spending 54 per cent of its revenues for education, he said, with appropriations limited to segregated schools. Under any forced integration "we wouldn't have any public schools at all."

Talmadge has three speaking engagements scheduled this week. He will address Atlanta Kiwanians at 12:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Atlanta Athletic Club on "The Constitution of the United States—What It Means to Me." Wednesday he will dedicate a rural telephone line and a new road at Murrayville at noon, and Friday he will speak in Alexandria, La., before the Louisiana Forestry Assn.

Farm Loan Deposits Increase $5,700,000

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP)—Farmers increased their investments in national farm loan associations by more than $5,700,000 in the fiscal year ended June 30, the Farm Credit Administration reported today.

Is McCarthy Resigned To Censure by Panel?

with his conduct by the Watkins group.

He reportedly expects most of his political campaigning efforts this fall will be confined to radio and television appearances, which he could manage while remaining in Washington most of the time to prepare for and battle out the censure issue in the Senate.

In the Senate, McCarthy will be bound by none of the rules which the inquiry committee, headed by Sen. Watkins (R-Utah), has imposed on testimony.

McCarthy told reporters he will make no public announcement about his campaign plans until the hearings are over.

"I've been receiving just a vast amount of invitations to speak," he said. "But I can't say yes or no to them until the hearings end."

He said about a half dozen senators have invited him to speak in their behalf, but declined to name them, and said "state chairmen in states where there is a close contest have asked me in." He likewise refused to list those states.

The committee resumes hearings tomorrow with a prediction by Watkins that it can close the testimony by day's end.

The major witness remaining to be heard is Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker, whom McCarthy is accused of having "abused."

McCarthy has denied he abused the general in telling Zwicker that because of his response to a hypothetical question he was "not fit to wear that uniform"—the uniform of a general.

Watkins said the committee wants testimony from James Juliana, staff member of McCarthy's subcommittee, and George Anastos, former staff member.

Hitler Fumbled Air Superiority, RAF Report Says

LONDON, Sept. 13 (AP)—German aircraft designers were superior to the Allies during World War II, but the German high command mishandled the Luftwaffle, Royal Air Force historians said today.

Giving an official analysis of the air war, the British experts said the Germans' "great error" was being lulled into overconfidence by "early and easy successes."

"Though the British and Americans made mistakes, long before the war ended they had come to understand the correct principles which govern air power," said the RAF report.

6 Die in Wreck Of 2 Autos in Head-on Crash

DENISON, Iowa, Sept. 12 (AP)—Six persons died in a headon collision of two cars near here early today.

The crash occurred, the State Highway Patrol said, when a convertible in which four youths were riding swung wide on a curve and collided with another car.

The patrol identified the dead as Philip E. Nemitz, 20, Charter Oak, an airman stationed at Atterbury Air Force Base, Ind.; Jo Ann Hansen, 18, Charter Oak; Leonard Burr, 16, Council Bluffs; Wayne Alleman, 17, Omaha; Gary Baker, 16, Dunlap, and an unidentified youth.

Nemitz and his companion, Miss Hanse, were burned beyond recognition.

Burr, an occupant of the convertible, also died instantly. The other three in the car with Burr died in a hospital at Denison a short time after the wreck.

'Flat Look' Saved Me, Miss America Declares

lived in Arizona for several years. Her family moved back to California and she has lived in San Francisco the past seven years.

There was an element of sadness in her triumph last night. Her father, Gregg Meriwether, died last July 15. Only her mother, Mrs. Ethel Meriwether, was with her last night to share the exciting moment when Lee became Miss America.

"I hope he knows," Lee said tearfully when she heard she had won.

"He wanted me to go to Stanford and be an actress," she told newsmen today.

But her father, an office employe for a chemical firm, didn't have enough money for Stanford.

So Lee went to the City College of San Francisco because "it was the cheapest."

Lee doesn't have to worry about money now. As Miss America, she'll receive about $40,000 in public appearance fees in addition to a new car, furs, jewelry, a wardrobe and other prizes.

The total value of everything she won is close to $60,000.

The suntanned beauty from the sunshine state said she hopes to return to college when her year as Miss America ends next September. Then she wants to attend the Pasadena Playhouse, a California drama school.

As for boy friends, Lee said, "There's no one special."

She said she just had "some very good friends."

She's allergic to milk.

Pink, red and black are the colors that attract her most when she buys clothes.

This afternoon the new Miss America was to leave by auto for a two-week visit in New York. She'll stay in a suite at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

After that comes a 15-day trip to South America.

"Can you imagine me selling Florida orange juice?" the California beauty asked.

Betty Hutton Opens Series In Color TV

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (AP)—A new entertainment era began tonight with Betty Hutton making her television debut on the opening show of the first fully-sponsored color TV series.

The 90-minute first installment of a $14,000,000 series of extravaganzas was beamed throughout the nation from the 48-year-old Vitagraph Studio in Brooklyn, where pioneering movies were turned out in 1910 for only $400.

Norman Talmadge appeared in movies there for $35 a week. Miss Hutton got well over 100 times that much for her singing and dancing in a musical comedy called "Satins and Furs."

Miss Hutton made her video debut from 6:30 to 8 p.m. EST as the star of the opening show of what the National Broadcasting Co. called the first sponsored series produced especially for transmission in color.

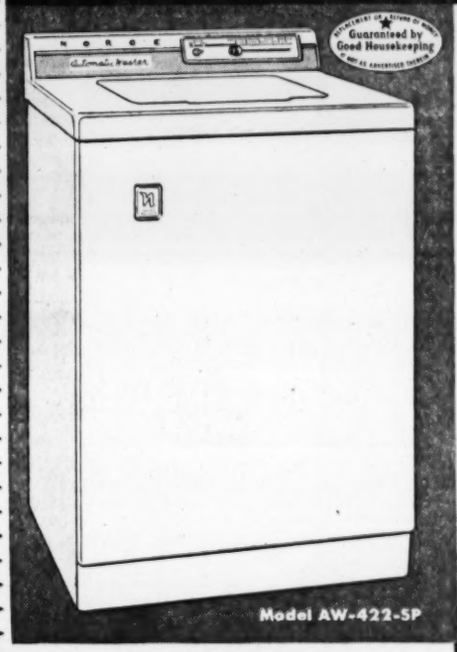

The Columbia Broadcasting System will get its fully-sponsored color program under way Wednesday night.

The NBC "spectacular" came over the screen in every color of the rainbow. Only two eggs being fried during the opening commercial appeared to be off color. Their yolks were a pale green.

Then Miss Hutton took over with a series of exhuberent boisterous numbers that could be heard clearly even with the set turned down low.

Image Sticks to TV Screen; Grandpa's Ghost, They Say

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 12 (AP)—Picture the plight of the Indianapolis police, confronted with an unwelcomely persistent, grandfather-like ghost which refuses to dematerialize from a television screen.

John and Virginia Mackey, both 33, the set owners, contend they know the face—that it's Mrs. Mackey's grandfather, George R. Shots, who died April 28 at the age of 74.

Mrs. Marie Johnson, 52, the mother of Mrs. Mackey, also identifies the face as that of her father. The Mackeys, Mrs. Johnson and other relatives say the moustached man is wearing the clothes in which Shots was buried.

The image first appeared during a network drama Friday and became more intense Saturday, regardless of where on the dial the set was tuned.

The Mackeys called police. The set was torn down in the police property room. When it was reassembled, there —clear as before—was the face.

A parade of officers came to see it.

Local television engineers say images can be "burned" onto coated tubes by stepped-up electron beams, and they presume the face is that of an actor in the Friday night show.

Saigon Army Chief Defies Second Order To Leave

By JEAN BARRE

SAIGON, Sept. 12 (AP)—South Viet Nam's premier and army chief of staff barricaded themselves in their separate headquarters tonight and showed signs of resolving their dispute over leadership by means of arms.

Premier Ngo Dinh Diem ordered Gen. Nguyen Van Hinh out of the country for the second time and with additional warnings of urgency. The Army chief defied the second order, as he had done the first.

He reinforced the guard around his headquarters, posting tanks to protect its approaches.

Diem also was barricaded, in his gleaming white Gia Lam palace. He was reported to have mobilized 800 police while ordering a battalion of troops from central Viet Nam to speed to Saigon.

ONLY BULWARK

The regular Viet Nam army of 270,000 men was reported lined up solidly behind Hinh. His staff officers predicted his banishment would be the signal for the decomposition of the army, the only bulwark against a Communist sweep down from the north.

His headquarters said all commanders of the Country's military districts sent him messages of support today.

Diem first ordered Hinh, after summarily stripping him of all his functions, to board an Air France plane leaving Saigon today for Paris. Hinh telephoned the line's office and canceled the reservation.

Tonight Diem sent Hinh a message by a courier telling him to get on a Tuesday plane. The message said the Tuesday date "must be observed imperatively."

INCIDENT AVERTED

A grave incident was averted by a narrow margin today, indicating how tense the city was. Ten gendarmes commanded by a French police captain were sent by the Ministry of National Defense to install a government censor in the military radio broadcasting station.

The building's guard detachment, supporters of Hinh, refused to admit the police. The minister himself had to intervene to get the censor in the building. Two tanks patroling the area speeded up to protect the guard, but they did not open fire.

12-Year-Old Youth Seized as Bootlegger

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP). Police today arrested a 12-year-old boy who apparently had been doing a thriving business as a bootlegger.

The boy was arrested in an unfurnished apartment where liquor raiders said the price for corn whiskey was 50 cents a half pint.

The youth said he had been selling liquor after school hours since last Christmas and that his top "take" for a single day had been $78.

10 Killed In Thule Plane Crash

Giant Transport Wrecked in Arctic

WESTOVER AIR FORCE BASE, Mass., Sept. 12 —A four-engine U. S. Air Force transport plane crashed and burned today at Thule Air Base in Greenland—900 miles south of the North Pole—killing 10 of 15 persons aboard, the Atlantic Division Military Air Transport Service reported.

Maj. Huly Bray, the division's public information officer at this base in Chicopee, said the C124 Globemaster crashed and burned about a half mile from the Thule base runway while making an emergency landing.

The plane left Thule at 10:36 a.m. (EST), Bray said, and was aloft 12 minutes when the commander "declared a state of emergency." The plane was returning to Thule when it crashed.

Bray said the names and addresses of casualties will be released as soon as next of kin are notified.

A C118, carrying medical supplies, left Westover for Thule and will return with survivors.

Bray said the craft—an Atlantic Division MATS plane — was on a regularly scheduled flight. It left Westover a few days ago. He did not know immediately what caused the commander to "declare a state of emergency" shortly after it got into the air.

He said it was the first fatal accident in more than 4,000 flights made by Atlantic Division MATS to Thule since the north country airlift sared in 1951.

During his period more than 35,000 passengers and 55 million pounds of supplies and mail have been transported, Bray said.

JWV Fights McCarthyism, Official Says

The national commander of the Jewish War Veterans said here Sunday the organization "will continue to condemn Sen. McCarthy's use of the Communist issue to steamroll his own political ambitions."

The commander, Harry Madison of Detroit, said the JWV was fighting communism when Sen. McCarthy was still a baby. "We could not, would not and will not be silent" on McCarthyism, he declared.

Madison addressed a banquet marking Georgia's beginning celebration of the 300th anniversary of Jewish settlement in America.

"The heritage of the Jew . . . is why we are so sensitive to any threats — in whatever innocent form — that in some way might work to abridge our freedom," Madison said.

Earier Sunday at Grant Park, Madison presented to Mayor Hartsfield a portrait of Judah P. Benjamin, the Confederate secretary of state. He made the presentation on behalf of the Georgia Department, JWV. Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Pollock, USMC, was speaker at the ceremony.

Ancestors Guard Lord Clifford's 50 Tons of Wheat

CHUDLEIGH, England, Sept. 12 (AP)—Lord Clifford of 12 (AP)—Lord Clifford of Ugbrooke House, which is described in the travel folders as one of the stately homes of England, had 50 tons of wheat in his living and dinning rooms today.

The harvest caught him short on storage space, and he stripped the rooms of furniture for the wheat. He left the portraits of his ancestors, delicate candelabra and wall mirrors to watch over the grain.

One of the ancestors was the first Lord Clifford, who built the house 300 years ago while he was lord high treasurer of England.

Luncheon Scheduled By Insurance Group

The annual organizational luncheon for insurance underwriters will be held in the Stone Mountain Room of the University of Georgia's Atlanta Division at 12:30 Monday.

Members of the Chartered Property Casualty Underwriters organization may make advance reservations with Dr. Kenneth Black, chairman of the Atlanta Division's insurance department, at CY 7683. Classes sponsored by the insurance department and the the Dixie Chapter of CPCU will be arranged at the luncheon.

Ex-Rep. French Is Dead at 79

HAMILTON, Ohio, Sept. 12 (AP). Burton L. French, an Idaho congressman for 26 years and vice chairman of the old Loyalty Review Board in the Truman administration, died today at Mercy Hospital. French, 79, had been ill a year.

French, a Republican, represented Idaho in Congress for 13 terms, starting in 1913. He won every one of his congressional races from 1916 until the Democratic landslide in 1932.

Three Suns Appearing at Steak Ranch

By PAUL JONES

The Three Suns, versatile recording artists and creators of some of the most danceable music in America, are currently being featured at Joe Cotton's Steak Ranch as the first of a number of "name" attractions to be seen there this fall.

The Suns, holders of the all-time local attendance record established at the Rainbow Roof here years ago, will be featured in two performances each night during the next two weeks. The boys come on at 10 p.m. and midnight for informal shows, each of which is followed by a dance period. Those who have seen the Suns here agree that their dance music is better than that of most of the "name" orchestras.

Their appearance here climaxes a series of TV appearances including their long run engagement on the NBC-TV Kate Smith Show, Ed Sullivan's Toast of the Town and many other video productions. They have consistently been among the top recording teams with such front-runners as "Twilight Time," "Cecelia," "Hindustan," "The Creep," "Oh, Happy Days" and others remaining on the best-seller list of hits.

Appearing with the Three Suns at the Ranch is Ken Harris and his band. The two organizations provide almost continuous entertainment.

Rabbi Assails Reds, Nazis as Liberty's Foes

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (AP)—Nationwide observance of the 300th anniversary of the arrival of the first Jewish settlers in this land opened today with a service of reconsecration at the home of the oldest congregation.

Speaking to 500 persons gathered for the ceremonies at Shearith Israel Synagogue from various parts of the United States, Europe and Latin America, Rabbi David De Sola Pool declared:

"If ever we in America needed to recall the past story of our staunch struggle to attain human dignity and brotherhood and renew our consecrated purpose unflinchingly to maintain them, it is now in these days of overhanging shadow and doubt."

The present generation, Rabbi Pool said, has seen "two wellnigh overwhelming attempts to destroy man's freedom which, embedded in American democracy, have made America deeply and brightly meaningful to all mankind."

Yesterday, said Dr. Pool, it was Nazi Germany that "threatened the very sanity of man's survival on earth."

"Today," he continued, "the tyranny of Soviet communism is being weighed in the balance against the Four Freedoms."

The Shearith Israel congregation was organized by 23 Dutch Jews who landed here in 1654. Expelled from the Portuguese colony of Brazil, they had been stripped of their possessions by pirates and reached safety only after being rescued by a French ship.

Rabbi Pool reminded his listeners that the congregation's first services were held in the loft of a windmill. Mill stones at the door of the present synagogue keep alive this tradition.

Burch Biggs Sr., Political Boss in Tennessee, Dies

CLEVELAND, Tenn., Sept. 12 (AP)—Burch E. Biggs Sr., 80, Polk County Democratic Party leader for more than two decades whose influence was felt in Tennessee political circles for years, died today in Bradley County Memorial Hospital.

The aged political leader, who served seven terms as sheriff of this sometimes strife-torn county, suffered from a heart ailment early this year and more recently was plagued with kidney trouble.

Death came at 2 p.m. and ended one of the most colorful careers in Tennessee political history.

At his peak, Biggs had built and led one of the most powerful and tightly knit political organizations in the state.

Biggs is survived by his wife, the former Della Lillard; a daughter, Mrs. Everett C. Bryant of Cleveland; a son, Burch Glen Biggs, and six grandchildren.

Justice Douglas Home From Australia Tour

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12 (AP)—U.S. Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas, wearing a 10-gallon hat, arrived today from Australia where he made a seven-week lecture tour.

He told airline officers he "just wanted to rest up and didn't want anyone to make a fuss over him."

He registered at a hotel here and plans to go to Spokane, Wash., to pick up a car and drive to Washington, D.C.

Setbacks Abroad Fail To Shake Ike's Popularity, Democrats Find

By JAMES RESTON

New York Times News Service
Special to The Atlanta Constitution

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12—The Democrats are finding that foreign policy is their most difficult issue in the political campaign.

They are doing all right on the farm issue. They are even doing better than is generally supposed on the issue of unemployment and high prices. But they have not been able to make progress on the foreign policy issue, though they frankly believe they have a better argument in this field than in almost any other.

DEBATE RUNS

Their argument is as follows:

1. The administration talked big on Indochina and ended by acquiescing in an armistice which added another 12 million persons and an important strategic position to the Communists.

2. The administration boasted that it was going to substitute a policy of liberation for the policy of containment and ended by being less effective in Indochina than the Democrats were in Korea.

ALLIES SLIP

3. The confidence of the Allies in the White House and the State department is lower today than at any time since the Marshall plan, due primarily to the rash of inconsistent and often belligerent statements emanating from the top of the government.

4. The Republicans started their administration by "unleashing" Chiang Kai-shek to invade China and Chiang is now having trouble holding on to what he had at the end of 1952.

5. The Republicans argued in the last campaign that they could deal with the Communist menace abroad more effectively than President Truman, but suffered at Geneva and in the French defeat of the European Defense Community the two worst political defeats since the Communist conquest of continental China.

DEFENSE CUT

6. In summary, the Democrats argue, there has been a kind of "slippage" in U. S. power and prestige all over the world as a result of lower defense budgets combined with higher commitments and provocative statements, which the Communists defied.

Nevertheless, the minority party is free to concede that this argument is not impressing the vast majority of the voters in the campaign.

To the Democratic argument that the United States appeased the Communists in Indochina, the Republicans ask whether the Democrats were prepared to go to war to save the Tonkin delta. And to that the Democrats have no reply.

To the Democratic charge that Secretary of State Dulles flirted with war in Indochina and then retreated, the Republicans respond with their clinching argument: that there were two wars in progress — Korea and Indochina — when the Democrats were in power and the fighting has now stopped in both places.

To the Democratic assertion that American prestige has declined in the Allied capitals, the Republicans contend that this was the inevitable result of a Republican administration finally standing up and telling the Allies where to get off.

Nothing seems to impress the voters, however, like the ending of the bloodshed in Korea. The Democrats can and do argue that the Allied position has been weakened there by the planned withdrawal of six U. S. divisions, but that's not good political argument. Republicans are not losing votes because they brought most of the boys out of the continent of Asia.

The Democratic dilemma is that while they don't like what is happening overseas, they were too involved in the policies that failed — notably Indochina and the EDC—and they have no alternative that they are prepared to expound in a political campaign.

There has been a loss of U.S. prestige abroad, and Dulles' persistent public threats of "massive retaliation" and "agonizing reappraisals" have contributed to it. But the main source of the criticism overseas is that the United States has taken a rigid and unrealistic attitude toward the Chinese Nationalists and the Chinese Communists.

Privately, many leading members of the Democratic Party agree with this criticism of Dulles, but they are not prepared to argue publicly that it should be changed.

Similarly, they are critical that Dulles stuck to the EDC policy until the French Parliament destroyed it, but that was the Democratic Party's policy too. Nobody on the Democratic side proposed an alternative. No Democrat argued publicly that the United States should intervene in Indochina. And nobody suggested that the United States should take a different attitude toward Chiang Kai-shek.

EUROPE LOSS

Despite the defeats at Geneva and Paris, despite the partition of Indochina, the private polls taken, not only by the administration but by the Democrats, indicate that the popularity of the State department has gone up in the last 18 months.

Even more spectacularly, the popularity of the President in this field has risen. He is criticized, particularly in the large Eastern urban areas, for his Near Eastern policy as well as for his inconsistencies and his prolonged absences from the capital in a time of international tension, but confidence is widespread, nevertheless, that he is a good moderate man who would not cut the budget or make concessions in Europe and Asia unless he knew what he was doing.

This annoys and frustrates the Democrats, but they don't know what to do about it. Accordingly, they are making a virtue of necessity and arguing that the times are too serious for partisan discussion of foreign policy.

VININGS POST OFFICE IS CONVERTED PAVILION
Mrs. Earl Carter Smith Brepares for Day's Business

Post Office a Busy Spot --It's Coolest Place in Vinings

By BILL WITHERS

Mrs. Earl Carter Smith, great-granddaughter of Solomon Pace, Vinings' first postmaster, is responsible for distributing the mail in the peaceful town which lies between Atlanta and Marietta. Her place of business is a pavilion built in 1867 by Gov. Joe E. Brown.

Originally the structure was used as a place for summer picnickers from surrounding towns, but in more recent years it has become the center of activity in Vinings.

NATIVE PINE

Constructed of native pine timber and supported by red cedar foundations, the 50x25-foot building has two beams 10x6 inches running the length of the building. The solid beams which run the breadth support the roof without the aid of interior supporters.

According to Mrs. Smith, special train cars would be left off at a track siding near the pavilion and people would spend the day in Vinings, hiking, wading, eating and dancing. The excursions stopped when the trains were rerouted in the early 1900s.

The pavilion is still used by civic groups, churches, and occasional picnickers.

"But its main purpose now," said the postmistress, "is the U.S. mail."

The Vinings Improvement Club, of which Mrs. Smith is president, holds its regular meetings there. She also transacts some of her real estate business in the old structure over a pine hewn desk more than a century old.

"COOLEST SPOT"

"People love to come here for business or otherwise," she said. "It's the coolest place in town and you may not believe this," she added, "but since I began working here in 1947, I have not seen a fly in the entire place."

There is no air conditioning in the building but dormer type window glasses afford a cross ventilation through the half moon shaped windows of which there are more than a dozen.

The post office is a sub station and is under the direction of the Smyrna station.

"I hope nobody tries to take it away from us," Mrs. Smith explained, "because we feel not only that it is necessary to the residents here, but that it's the most charming post office in all Georgia."

Garland's Appeal to High Court

Former Flint Circuit Solicitor Ben B. Garland of Jackson is to ask the Supreme Court Monday to throw out indictments charging him with criminal libel in Monroe County.

Garland, who resigned as solicitor to run for governor, appealed to the Supreme Court after the Monroe Superior Court had denied his motion to dismiss the indictments.

The charges grew out of the case of William Ogletree, Negro Korean War veteran, sentenced to death in the slaying of a white man in Forsyth. Upon recommendation of Garland, who prosecuted him, the State Board of Pardons and Paroles commuted Ogletree's sentence to life imprisonment.

In the furore which followed, several Monroe County grand juries investigated the case. The result was indictments against Garland and Parole Board Chairman Charles A. Pannell and a recommendation for Garland's impeachment.

The indictment against Pannell was dismissed by Court of Appeals Judge H. E. Nichols, then judge of the Rome Judicial Circuit, and the House of Representatives refused to return an impeachment charge against Garland.

Guard Meeting Slated Sept. 19

L. W. McPherson of 1767 Clairmont Rd., NE, will be guest speaker at the seventh annual convention of the Georgia State Guard Assn. in Macon Sept. 19.

Edward Katz, state commander of the guard, said members will lunch at Warner Robins Air Force Base and tour the installation during the meet.

'SAY IT'

Expert Has Pattern for Good Talk

By DOTTY LUNDY

If you've got something to say, say it.

That's part of the public speaking formula of Dr. R. C. "Scotty" Young. And he should know, because he has been named one of the most sought-after speakers in America by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

Dr. Young

Dr. Young, coordinator of student affairs at the Atlanta Division, University of Georgia, says he has a three-point formula:

1. Have something to say.
2. Believe in what you say.
3. Do the best you can to make others believe it.

A Baptist minister, he is also associate professor in the School of Business.

AMERICANISM

The Scottish immigrant's favorite topics are the philosophy of youth and Americanism. He talks to young people's groups, industrial organizations and trade associations. Twelve years ago he began lecture tours which take him all over the country whenever he can get away from his university duties.

The professor, who still has a slight Scottish burr in his voice, came to the United States in 1921.

A popular ditty, "Everyting is Peaches Down in Georgia," brought Dr. Young to the Empire State of the South. He heard the tune at a London theater while he was on leave from France during World War I.

MERCER GRADUATE

Dr. Young was graduated from Mercer University.

The educator was pastor of a Baptist church in Newnan from 1929 to 1941, when he joined the Atlanta Division faculty. He commuted from Newnan until this year when the Youngs moved to Atlanta.

Dr. Young claims he never gets nervous before adult audiences. But a group of youngsters invariably puts him on edge because of the great responsibility he feels towards them.

A Sign Your Life is in DANGER

You're driving on a dark-surfaced highway. The sky becomes overcast. It begins to rain. Traffic bunches up. You strain to see. "Slippery" warnings keep you tense. Then—suddenly you pass onto light-colored concrete. What a relief! Traffic moves out. No "slippery" signs. You know you're on a safer pavement.

Yes, the difference between a sickening swerve and a safe, quick stop often is the pavement. Concrete grips tires—helps you avoid accidents. Wet or dry, its gritty texture provides uniformly high skid resistance.

350 To Attend Tech Frosh Camp

BY LAURA BARRE

More than 350 Georgia Tech freshmen are coming to school five days early to take part in a special orientation camp Thursday through Saturday at Lake Louise near Toccoa.

Sponsored by Alpha Phalanx of the Tech YMCA, the program will include addresses by Tech officials and local ministers, bull sessions with upperclassmen, worship services and recreation.

Carlton Parker, assistant secretary of the Tech YMCA, said this year's camp will be the largest yet to be held. The four previous ones were held at Salem Camp Ground near Conyers, and the largest accommodated 257 freshmen. "That was with cots stacked on top of cots," Parker said.

Wednesday afternoon the freshmen will register with the school and receive their dormitory assignments. They will spend that night in their dormitory rooms.

That evening they will hear an address by Dr. Thomas H. McDill, professor of psychology at Columbia Theological Seminary, Decatur, on "Attaining Maturity."

The freshmen, along with 23 upperclassmen who will serve as counselors, members of the Tech YMCA staff and others on the camp program will leave for Lake Louise by chartered bus at 7:30 a.m. Thursday.

Some highlights of the program for the next three days will be a welcoming address by Tech President Blake R. Van Leer; an address by Dr. Raymond S. Grispell, consulting psychiatrist at Tech, on "Adjusting to College Life;" a presentation of the Tech YMCA program by YMCA Secretary Robert C. Commander; an address by Alumnus Robert MacDougall of Atlanta on "What Georgia Tech Can Mean to You" and an address by Dean of Students George C. Griffin on "Student Life at Georgia Tech."

Programs on extra-curricular activities, Tech traditions, school songs and yells, social fraternities, the military training program and worship services also will be included.

After breakfast Sept. 18 the campers will return to the Tech campus for a busy day's schedule, which includes GIRLS and FOOTBALL.

41 Atlantans Accept Top Positions In Biggest Community Chest Drive

Forty-one Atlanta civic leaders have accepted top posts in the annual Community Chest drive scheduled Oct. 12-Nov. 12, campaign chairmen have announced.

The chairmen have, since early spring, been recruiting volunteers to direct the Community Chest drive. The campaign cabinet now is complete, and division chairmen are selecting and training an estimated 12,000 volunteer workers.

GOAL OF DRIVE

Goal of the campaign is $1,833,545, largest in the history of the Community Chest, Forio said. This is an increase of $112,163 over the 1953 goal.

One reason for the increase is that the Atlanta Girls' Club has been added to the agency's list of organizations since last year. Additional funds also are needed to provide more low-cost day nurseries for children of working parents, more visiting nurses and more free legal advice for those unable to pay, Forio said.

Division chairmen and cochairmen who are responsible for directing this year's drive are:

CHAIRMEN

Commerce, Industry and Finance Division—John D. Harris, president of Warren Co.; Daniel J. Haughton, vice president and general manager of Lockheed Aircraft Corp., and James D. Thomson, southeast regional manager of Chevrolet Motor Division.

Metropolitan Division — Grant Horneffer, comptroller, Rich's, Inc.; Edward C. Hammond, secretary, Georgia Power Co., and W. Kelly Mosley, Georgia manager of Southern Bell Telephone Co.

TRAFFIC AND SAFETY COUNCIL

Anti-Congestion Program Gets National Recognition

By KEELER McCARTNEY

The Atlanta Traffic and Safety Council, a child of necessity, was born to fight a traffic congestion problem that was costing metropolitan Atlanta an estimated $64,500,000 yearly.

How well it has succeeded is reflected in the fact that Atlanta now is cited as one of the three leading cities over the country with ideal traffic programs. The other two cities recognized by the National Safety Council are Chicago and Detroit.

From a small beginning in 1947, the council has blossomed out into a staff of highly skilled specialists who plan, initiate and consolidate improvement. It is governed by a board of directors consisting of the city's outstanding businessmen.

Launched as the Traffic Improvement Assn., which grew out of traffic studies made by the Chamber of Commerce, the organization was merged with the newly formed Atlanta Safety Council in 1950. The governing boards of the two bodies last year were consolidated into the Atlanta Traffic and Safety Council.

OPEN TO ALL

Now that the council has become firmly entrenched as a vital influence in the future growth of Atlanta, its financial problems are being opened to all businessmen. Heretofore, it has been supported by a relatively small group of men who were able to see that traffic congestion and related problems soon would choke out most existing business centers.

The council always aims its program toward familiarizing the driver with the traffic problem and then undertaking measures to help him along in the right direction.

In the words of Robert B. Leopold, manager of the council:

"Before we can expect good driving practices from the individual, we must provide him with the right kind of physical facilities and environment; we must safeguard him with suitable traffic controls; there must be proper regulations and enforcement, and—above all—in the democratic procedure the driver must be accorded his rightful place in the over-all program to bring about these things."

In the legislative field, the council prepared a model traffic ordinance which was adopted. It was instrumental in creating the city traffic engineering department; creation of a traffic commission as an official advisory board on traffic matters, and in the creation of an aldermanic committee on traffic, parking and transit.

COMPREHENSIVE SURVEY

In the enforcement field, the council encouraged a comprehensive survey of the police traffic division by the Traffic Division of Northwestern University that resulted in the present traffic bureau, and also worked for a study of municipal traffic court by the Traffic Court Improvement Division of the American Bar Assn.

The council encourages driver training as an elective subject in high schools, sponsors an annual teen-age traffic conference, furnishes safety material and instructions to schools, publishes and distributes a traffic ordinance digest and conducts periodic area traffic conferences.

In the engineering division, the council has been active in promoting the expressway system, aided in securing a $750,000 signal modernization program, cooperated in establishing a major street system, cooperated in the transit study and in conducting cordon counts, and made two parking studies.

Now, the council feels that its job is scarcely begun if congestion is to be clipped in face of an ever-increasing number of vehicles plaguing the rapidly growing city. It believes the job is big enough for everyone to take an active part.

Griffin Says He's Not Set To Fill Staff

BAINBRIDGE, Sept. 12 (AP)—Spokesman for Gov.-Nominate Marvin Griffin said Sunday he is not expected to announce selection of his staff for some time.

Griffin planned a vacation of several days, following the victory celebration held here yesterday. Reports on the celebration incorrectly quoted Griffin as saying he would ask Gov. Herman Talmadge's executive secretary, James Bentley, to remain in his post.

Griffin said he would ask Talmadge's chief of staff, B. D. Murphy, to continue in that capacity. He also said he would ask Mayor J. W. (Taxi) Smith of Albany to remain as attorney for the Georgia Ports Authority.

NEW WAY TO WASH

JUNE CABOT, INTERIOR DECORATOR AND HOME STYLIST, INSTALLS TELEVISION AND DESK UNIT IN SCALE-MODEL ROOM
Model Is Built On A One-Inch-to-a-Foot Scale and Furniture, Made by Architect Paul MacAlister, Is Exact Replica In Every Detail, Including Floral Arrangements

Tiny Scale Designs Aid Decorating 'Magic'

By BETTY CARROLLTON

And home decor can stretch, not strain, your budget if homemakers first put their ideas into miniature form.

June Cabot, prominent home stylist, will arrive in Atlanta this week, complete with house and furniture to show how it's done.

Miss Cabot moves miniature pieces of furniture around a tiny room to illustrate the change from a traditional to modern decorative scheme without sacrificing harmony or comfort.

She demonstrates each step with small sets, valued at $6,000 and made by architect designer Paul MacAlister of Chicago.

However, she points out, any homemaker can make scale model miniature cardboard cutouts to use with a floor plan that duplicates proportions of her home. Or she can buy small scale furniture with which to work out her basic ideas. This practice will reduce chance of error.

HER METHOD

In depicting the transition from traditional to contempory style, Miss Cabot starts with a living-dining room with typical 18th Century furniture. The floor plan is built on a one-inch-to-a-foot scale. In full size, it would be 27-feet long by 15-feet wide. Furniture is reproduced in exact replicas.

Walls are cloud blue and swag-type draperies are of pale gold antique satin. A TV set, encased in mahogany cabinet, shares interest with living room fireplace.

The sofa has a mandarin red covering and chairs are upholstered in yellow brocade. A coral mandelle screen is used as a divider between living and dining area.

Floral arrangements on tables and benches appear lifelike in every detail when examined under a magnifying glass. Two banquettes in Chinese motif are beneath the Chinese ancestral portraits on each side of the fireplace.

MIX WELL

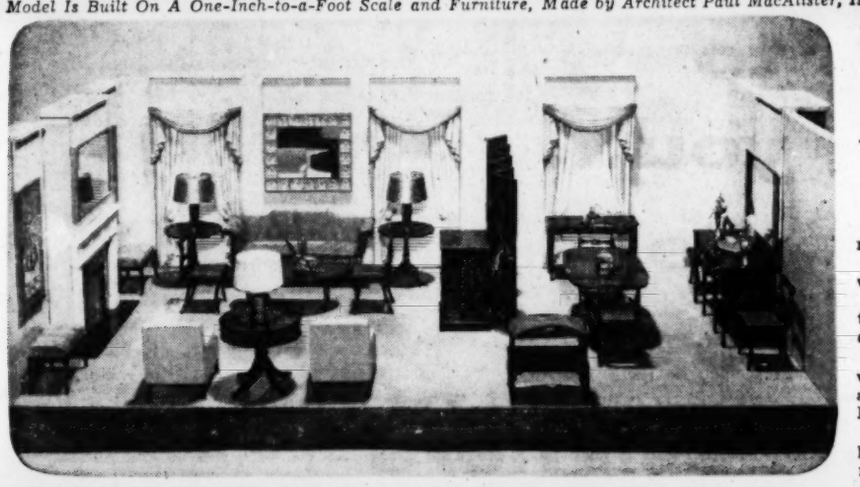

To begin the conversion from traditional to contemporary, Miss Cabot moves into the room, furniture and accessories described as "middle-path moderns," integrating the two styles with complete harmony.

Hearth is built up to bench height with crab orchard stone on the left side and is topped with slate. When covered with a cushion it can be used as a bench.

Miss Cabot will be at a local department store Wednesday and Thursday to explain the transition in detail.

Flowers To Debut At Fair

By YOLANDE GWIN

MARIETTA, Sept. 12 — Garden Clubbers of Cobb County will be taking bows along with their flowers this week when they stage the first standard Flower Show ever to be held at the Cobb County Fair.

The Fair is set for Monday through Saturday of this week at the new fair grounds on Powder Springs street in Marietta.

STANDARD TROPHIES

Standard show ribbons and silver trophies will be awarded.

Mrs. Roger Thompson was named county chairman for the flower division of the fair by J. H. Henderson last March.

"I began right away thinking of schedules, and rules as well as people with imagination to help me with the show," said Mrs. Thompson on the eve of the opening. "I called on Mrs. Archie Comer, Mrs. Lemon Autrey Jr. of Acworth and Mrs. John Thompson of Smyrna to do the job. And they went right into action.

"We adopted the theme of 'Hi, Ho! to the Fair We Go!'" at our first meeting.

HAD IT FIRST!

"Little did we dream that it would be a nationwide idea. But the September issue of a national magazine adopted the same theme to spotlight a story on the fairs being held all over the United States this fall. But Cobb County had it first!"

Horticulture and arrangement classes will be featured by prize winning entries from

Husband Clogged Line And Adele Missed King

By JEAN DIETRICH

The Mrs. W. W. Simpson who didn't get the King of England arrived in Atlanta Sunday.

She's pint-sized Adele Simpson (four-feet nine in her stocking feet), creator of fashions for women of all sizes here to present her fall collection at a local store Monday and Tuesday.

And if her husband, Wesley, hadn't telephoned her at the wrong moment, this Mrs. Simpson thinks maybe she might have been the one who changed the course of Empire.

Seems she, too, was registered at the Ritz in Paris long ago when another Mrs. W. W. Simpson also was a guest.

At the time most of the world was on tenterhooks: Would Edward VIII give up his throne for Wallis or not?

Adele Simpson lived in a great state of confusion. Each day she received stacks of gifts addressed to "Mrs. W. W. Simpson," but not meant for her.

Then came a spine-tingling message that Vienna would call at 9 p.m.

Adele had read in the paper that the King was in Vienna.

So she waited for the call. Should she tell him to keep his throne or not? Nearly drove her crazy wondering WHAT she'd say.

Promptly at nine came the ring. Breathlessly she answered.

"What's the matter?" asked her husband. "You sound as if you were expecting someone else."

"I didn't tell him," smiled Adele, "that I was expecting the King of England. He'd have thought I was cracking up!"

Adele just returned last week from a less eventful stay at the Ritz.

"And that flat look—well, it ISN'T flat," she explains. "It's just that falsies are out.

"I made my first trip to Copenhagen and loved it especially because I saw so much ballet.

ADELE SIMPSON
Driven to Designing

"I had such high hopes that Joan would be a dancer—but, you know, she's a real cluck!

"It's my son (Jeffrey, 21) who has turned out to be a wonderful dancer."

"And I hope," she laughs, "no one thinks that means free alterations!"

The youngest of five daughters, she says she became a designer in self-defense.

"Mother would have the dressmaker come to our house and bring a bolt of blue serge.

"I rebelled. Started to make my own things. Then I began making things for all my sisters."

She arrived in town in a soft wool suit—a sort of dark beige which she called "blue fox." On her head a neat little brown suede pillbox; on her feet neat little (size 3½) brown kid pumps.

And, besides her gayety, there was something else nice about her. She had a run in her stocking!

ABWA Installs New Officers at Meeting

Mrs. Mildredge Marquardt was installed as president of Charter Chapter, American Business Women's Association, at a dinner meeting Wednesday evening at the Atlanta Women's Club.

Mrs. Miriam Manning, first vice president; Mrs. Clarice Wray, second vice president; Mrs. Mildred Gisi, third vice president; Mrs. Marjorie McIver, corresponding secretary; Ruth O'Farrell, recording secretary, and Mrs. Helen Johnson, treasurer.

Rev. Driscoll WSCS Speaker

The Rev. Edward A. Driscoll, executive secretary of the Georgia Council of Churches, will address the Woman's Society of Christian Service at Haygood Memorial Methodist Church Monday at 11 a.m.

Subject of his talk will be "Jesus' Concern for City People."

Mrs. Joseph C. Greenfield will give the opening meditation and Mrs. Glenn T. Austin, Dunwoody, will be guest soloist.

Circles of the Women's Society which meet at the church will convene at 10 a.m., before the general meeting.

Celestine Sibley

'Grandmother,' Too Sprightly

Well, it looks like you can never relax and let your stomach muscles sag and your chin droop down. If it's not one person jabbing at your slumbering pride and arousing your baser desires to look better than you can reasonably expect to, it's another. This time it's Gloria Swanson again.

The other day I mentioned the poor, aging, ignorant mother of a teen-age friend of mine who, according to her child's reluctant admission, doesn't EVEN know who Rock Hudson is. And here comes Gloria Swanson, many times a grandmother, who has been getting around to the New York night spots with Rock Hudson as her escort!

It's enough to make those of us whose mothers were Swanson fans back in the '20's cry in our mud packs. Miss Swanson admits to being 54 years old. (At least she admitted to being 52 when she was here two years ago and I assume even in the strange arithmetic of a woman's age, that adds up to 54.) The Associated Press official biography gives her age as 65 and when you see her today—if you're going to one of her fashion shows—you won't believe either age. (People always believe my age or worse.)

She looks fine, smooth and slender and effervescent with youth and health. And as I recall from an interview with her on her last visit, it's not all skin deep. The perennially young movie star, who has turned to dress designing in recent years, is young because she is always busy and eternally interested in life.

She said on her previous visit, "If I stopped working I'd collapse like an old accordion!"

You've seen it happen to people and you know it's true. She also has no patience with the tendency of her contemporaries to live in the past. In fact, she had written down a recipe for youth which must be infallible and it runs like this:

"Look forward, not backward. Have variety and interest in your life. Monotony and lack of mental activity produce age. The ancient Greeks had the formula for youth in a nutshell: Learn something new every day."

That's fine and I go along with it—a little way anyhow. I hope to see Miss Swanson and I'm sure she'll have something worth learning. But I can't help reflecting on that business about looking back. I've always thought looking back was a pretty harmless, pleasant exercise. Do you suppose the reason Miss Swanson eschews it is that her past, in addition to being glamorous and exciting with lots of fame and success and hard work, was also too complicated to review. After all, five husbands. . . .!

Now let me see, there was Wallace Beery, the Marquis de la Falaise de la Coudraye, Michael Farmer and—well, I forget.

Your Stars Today

But words once spoke can never be recall'd.

Wentworth Dillon.

DAILY GUIDE—This is one of those mornings when it would be very easy to get up with that quick retort ready for anyone or anything. Curb your desire to "spit it out" or take it out on anyone. Remember that it takes two to make a quarrel.

Self-interest can be the keynote of the day, so watch yourself and the other fellow for signs of selfishness. There is a possibility of disappointment on some big matters with those higher up, among leaders, and in affairs of state or negotiations for peace. Better not get into any discussion which could lead to angry words as the temptation to speak or write critically will be strong.

Those born around Oct. 30 need to be very realistic and ready to accept circumstances that are less than their desires. All in all a day for caution in communication and transportation; in speech, writing, contacts, travel.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY, VIRGO! This could turn out to be a highly romantic time for you, if you are looking for romance. If already married, your enjoyment through your children or association with loved ones can now be at a peak and continue to bring happiness up through May. Be wise during the coming month when there is danger that you'll let your social activities get out of hand.

Interesting strangers can make it a very stimulating year. Friends rally around to help you realize your best hopes and wishes, and you could be helped by generous friends. It will probably be necessary to stick very closely to the routine of your daily tasks, to apply your mind to a schedule, or be responsible for a near relative, but the rest is all fun.

Miss Meriwether, Fiance Are Honored

The first prenuptial affair given for Miss Betty Meriwether and her fiance, Spencer Smith, was the gala announcement party at which Dr. and Mrs. J. G. McDaniel and their daughter, Marguerite, entertained Saturday evening at their W. Wesley Rd. residence.

Gathering at 7 o'clock, the guests were greeted at the door by an enlarged picture of the honor guests at the age of two (a superimposed affair), riding in a small wagon.

Posters bearing other youthful pictures of the engaged couple, accompanied by appropriate verses, lined the living room walls. Telegrams written in rhyme, signed by fictitious names, and delivered to the honor guests by George and Stuart McDaniel, added merriment to the occasion.

A buffet supper was served from a table adorned with a huge engagement ring centered with a miniature bride and groom, and original toasts to the bridal pair were drunk in champagne.

Guests included members of Miss Meriwether's and Mr. Smith's wedding personnel and the ushers and their wives. Four of the ushers also took part in the marriage of the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Meriwether, the quartet including Douglas Robertson, Perryman Little, C. T. Conyers and Jack Jones of Savannah. Miss McDaniel will be among Miss Meriwether's bridesmaids.

MRS. MALCOLM GRANT will be hostess at a morning coffee on Tuesday, having invited 75 friends to meet Mrs. Chapman Turner and Mrs. Roswell Dunn, a duo of popular newcomers.

Guests will call between 11 and 1 o'clock at Mrs. Grant's home at 3093 Ridgewood Rd. Mrs. Albert Bows, Mrs. Hunter Ellis, Mrs. Delford Blaine and Mrs. Philip Kelly will assist in entertaining.

MR. AND MRS. VINCENT DOBBS, Mr. and Mrs. William Newman and Sam Mangham Jr. have returned from a week's stay at Ponte Vedra, Fla.

MR. AND MRS. EDWARD T. NEWMAN have returned from New York. They accompanied their son, Edward W. Newman, to Nyack, N.Y., where he has enrolled at the Missionary Training Institute.

Miss Ballew Marries Mr. Knepper

The Rev. M. C. Ballew read the marriage service when his daughter, Miss Mary Vesta Ballew, became the bride of Leslie Fred Knepper, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Knepper of Clarksville, Ind., at the chapel of the Peachtree Christian Church.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Marvin Ballew of Washington, D.C., and she was attended by Mrs. I. R. Carrington of Atlanta as matron of honor.

Don F. Morey of Atlanta was best man for Mr. Knepper, and ushering were James Reynolds and Eldred Ballew of Atlanta.

A reception followed the ceremony at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Bristow at 934 Moreland Ave.

The bride has lived in Atlanta for the past six years, her parents having moved here from Florida a year ago. A graduate of Seattle Pacific College, she has taught grade school at Anne E. West Elementary School, and for the past 18 months she has been teaching public school music at R. L. Hope School. She is working on her master's degree in music at George Peabody College, Nashville.

Mr. Knepper is a graduate of Murray State Teachers' College, and is also studying for a master's degree in music at George Peabody.

Davison Baby

Mr. and Mrs. C. Hillman Davison announce the birth of a daughter, Cynthia Lou, on Monday. Mrs. Davison is the former Mary Lou Denmark of Statesboro.

ANOTHER VERSION of the Eisenhower jacket. Sheath dress with what is called a "Blouson" jacket. It hugs the waistline, blouses gracefully and has a Persian collar. Sheath is decolletage—makes a perfect foil for tailored jewelry by day, for glitter after five. Costume is available in Atlanta. For shopping information call WAlnut 5050, Ext. 391.

Miss Lynette Kaplan Weds Mr. J. B. Mazer at Club

The Mayfair Club formed the setting Sunday evening for the marriage of Miss Lynette Kaplan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Kaplan, to J. B. Mazer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Mazer of Birmingham.

Rabbi Harry Epstein officiated at the service which was followed by a dinner given by the bride's parents.

Mr. Kaplan gave his daughter in marriage, and she was attended by Miss Irma Lefkoff as maid of honor and Mrs. Marvin Kaplan, her sister-in-law, as matron of honor.

Bridesmaids were Miss Sherry Bredow, Miss Claire Freedman, Miss Sharon Finkelstein and Miss Ann Moscow, all of Atlanta; Miss Claire Gottlieb of Columbia, S.C., and Miss Paula Fae Kimerling of Birmingham.

Pala Kimmerling of Birmingham was the small flower girl, and Scott Kaplan was ringbearer.

Eph Mazer of Birmingham was best man for his brother, and serving as usher-groomsmen were the bride's brothers, David, Sidney and Dr. Marvin Kaplan of Atlanta; Sam, Sidney and Joe Mazer and Herschal Feigelson, all of Birmingham.

Miss Diane Gudel kept the bride's book.

To Meet Tuesday

Conley Hills PTA will meet Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium.

The Rev. Roy Hinchey will give the devotional.

The budget, fund raising and programs for the year will be voted on.

Dentists Urge Regular Checkups

By THE NORTHERN DISTRICT DENTAL SOCIETY OF GEORGIA

Not so with teeth. They cannot repair themselves. What's more, unless they are cared for, the tiny "bruise" or infection tends to become larger and larger until the tooth can no longer be saved.

RESULTS OF STUDIES

Studies show a direct relationship between visits to the dentist and the number of sound teeth in a person's mouth.

The Bureau of Economic Research and Statistics of the American Dental Association finds that individuals who have not seen their dentist in more than three years are far more likely to require complete artificial dentures than those who make periodic visits.

The survey, covering 37,911 people, showed that 17.9 per cent of women who had not seen a dentist in a three-year period need two complete dentures compared with only 6.0 per cent who had treatment 18 to 24 months before.

Among men, the figures were 20.9 per cent and 7.6 per cent.

B. Duane Moen, bureau director, said the study indicates that women are more conscientious about dental treatment than men.

(One in a Series)

Decay can start soon after the first or "baby" teeth appear. The peak in decay activity is usually reached in the teens.

MOST IN NEED

Moen has found than teenagers between the ages of 15 and 19 were most in need of dental work.

There was an average of five decayed teeth each in this group.

Up to age 34 for men and 39 for women, dental decay is the chief reason for the loss of teeth. Thereafter, the periodental diseases (ailments of the gums and other supporting structures) are mainly responsible.

A study of 5,014 patients at the Veterans Administration by three University of Illinois scientists has shown that by age 45, one out of every two men either has lost all his teeth as a result of periodental disease or is afflicted with it.

Woodland Club

Woodland Garden Club of Lenox Park meets Monday, Sept. 13, at 12:30 at the home of Mrs. J. E. Geer, 1650 Sussex Rd., NE.

New officers are: Mrs. Fred Miller, president; Mrs. J. W. Brooks, first vice president; Mrs. I. Gloer Hailey, second vice president; Mrs. George Stinsman, treasurer; Mrs. W. J. Wade, recording secretary.

You Can Save Money on Auto Insurance—L. G. Massey

"Because we aim to insure only careful drivers, State Farm may save you up to 40 per cent on your automobile insurance," says L. G. Massey, head of the L. G. Massey Agency of the State Farm Insurance Companies, in a special announcement today.

"If you have a good driving record, why not check your present automobile rates and coverages with us," suggests Mr. Massey. "You may be in for a pleasant surprise."

According to Mr. Massey, careful driving means fewer accidents

CAN YOU QUALIFY?

Careful drivers can be counted on to:

1. Heed crossing signals.
2. Stop for the school bus.
3. Make full stop at stop signs.
4. Obey speed laws.
5. Be extra-careful on slick pavements.
6. Be alert in emergencies.
7. Avoid passing on hills or curves.
8. Avoid mixing alcohol and gasoline.

If you follow these careful driver rules, it will help you to qualify with State Farm Mutual, recognized as "the careful driver insurance company."

. . . fewer claims and makes low rates for State Farm policyholders. This is why State Farm Mutual is known as "the careful driver insurance company." State Farm is different in these ways that may benefit you: 1—Insuring careful drivers only; 2—convenient semiannual premiums, and 3—efficient, personalized claim service.

The L. G. Massey Agency handles Fire and Life Insurance in addition to Automobile Insurance, giving a 20% deviation from the board rate on Fire Insurance.

For full information concerning any of their insurance coverages, telephone LA. 8641 or write or visit the L. G. Massey Agency, Room 417, 101 Marietta Street Building, Atlanta, Ga. Full information gladly furnished without obligation.

Say 'Hello From Georgia' With Pantry 'Goodies' Box

Let your relatives and friends in other states get an authentic taste of Georgia by sending them a "Georgia Goodies" box, especially prepared and shipped by The Pantry, 1033 Boulevard, NE, Atlanta's only food-gift shop.

Officials of The Pantry announced today that they can offer speedy delivery service on this unique gift box, not only to any state in the Union, but to distant lands as well. As Pat Murphey, owner of The Pantry, points out: "Many persons now living in Georgia came here from other sections of the U.S.—North, east, West and even from further down south. They still have relatives and friends in these other states. Perhaps you have a relation or friend overseas. Our new 'Georgia Goodies' box is a distinctive and highly effective way to give folks in other places a real taste of Georgia. We think—as we know you will—that it's a clever gift and one that will always be appreciated."

Parents with children away at school will be glad to learn that THE PANTRY also specializes in packing special fresh fruit hampers for shipment to the child away from home. Many school authorities frown on candy and other sweets, pointing out that this type "between meal" snack interferes with regular meals. A "from Mother and Dad" fruit basket shipped at regular intervals is the answer. Call ELgin 2244 and find out how easy it is to arrange for regular shipments.

"GEORGIA GOODIES" BOX—It's The Pantry's new and clever gift idea, an attractively packed box filled with authentic Georgia foods. Top strip shows the varied products which go into each box, along with illustrated booklets on Georgia. Accompanying story tells about The Pantry's new "Georgia Goodies" box.

As shown in accompanying photograph, each "Georgia Goodies" box contains peach preserves, brandied peaches, shelled peanuts, pecan halves, Hi-You All Georgia Grits, watermelon rind preserves, pecans and peanuts in the shell, watermelon pickle rinds, pine cones and pine needles . . . plus several handsomely illustrated booklets telling of Georgia's history, traditions and points of interest.

In addition to the new "Georgia Goodies" box, The Pantry delivers and ships boxes, crates and hampers of the tastiest oranges, grapefruit, apples or mixed fruits obtainable. Specialists in creating de luxe fruit and unusual food gifts, Pantry officials say that for cheering up a sick friend . . . to remember a birthday . . . offer condolences . . . remember an anniversary or special occasion . . . and as a business booster—there's no finer way than to send one of these unique Pantry fruit gifts.

There are many sizes of gift baskets available. For containers, The Pantry uses imported baskets, which, incidentally, can be utilized and remembered long after the contents have been eaten. Many exciting designs and sizes are available for your selection. The Pantry also announces that provisions have been made to handle out-of-state orders for large groups of customers, and businessmen will find this an easy and unique way to care for their holiday gift lists.

Pat Murphey, well-known Atlanta businessman, operates The Pantry, and cordially invites your patronage. Just call ELgin 2244, or write The Pantry, 1033 Boulevard, NE, Atlanta, for free folder and prices. All orders, large or small, receive prompt attention.

Creates Estate, Savings Account Immediately

The Roy F. Morgan Agency of United of Omaha, which is a Companion Company to Mutual of Omaha, introduces to Georgians a new double-duty dollar.

In following this new insurance idea, you will save money and you will have life insurance, also — your deposits will be like money in the bank. Immediately on setting up your savings account with United of Omaha, you will create a life insurance estate so necessary for the well being and welfare of any individual or any family or family group these days.

The estate set up in this plan may be used to safeguard a future for education of children, guaranteeing payments on the home, and at the same time, may be applied toward a cash retirement fund in later years. Deposits placed with the company are refunded to you in full at the end of 20 years, or you may let your money grow until you have reached retirement age and then collect considerably more money than your original deposit. Still a third alternative is offered in drawing cash and substantial paid-up insurance estate.

The plan is limited to those between the ages of 1 and 55, and it is also necessary that you be in good health in order to qualify for this new insurance idea. It is also necessary that you be able to save either $2, $5, or $10 per week, and if this is possible, United of Omaha has a 20-20 Plan to meet your needs. Enrollment in the plan will definitely be your first step on the road to future financial security.

United of Omaha achieved a new world's record for vigorous growth in achieving one billion dollars of insurance in force during its first 27 years' of operation, and this outstanding company is one of the top 6 per cent in life insurance company in the United States. Hundreds of thousands of policyowners know the strength, stability and service of the United of Omaha, and for the protection of its policyowners, a sound financial structure provides $114.50 of resources for each $100 of obligation.

You may obtain full information without any obligation on this revolutionary new double-duty dollar plan by calling United of Omaha at the Roy F. Morgan Agency, CYpress 5891, or dropping a postal card to the same agency, P. O. Box 1748, Atlanta 1, Georgia.

MONEY GOES TWO JOBS—A representative of the Roy F. Morgan Agency of United of Omaha explains to a young married couple in Atlanta how it is possible for them to create an immediate estate guarding the home and safeguarding the future of the entire family, and also with the same dollar, set up a permanent, sure way to save money regularly and safely. This unique plan was recently advertised in Life Magazine, and its popularity is sweeping the country. You may obtain full information, without any obligation whatsoever, by calling United of Omaha at the Roy F. Morgan Agency, CYpress 5891, or dropping a postal card to the same agency, P. O. Box 1748, Atlanta 1, Georgia.

Earle P. Smith Sr. Dies; Riverdale, East Point Leader

Earle P. Smith Sr., 64, civic leader of Riverdale and East Point, died Sunday morning in a private hospital after an illness of several months.

Mr. Smith was master of the Riverdale Masonic Lodge, which he had helped organize last year. He was past master of the East Point Lodge and a member of the Shrine and the Knights Templar.

A Western Union employe for 37 years, he was assistant city foreman at the time of his retirement.

Born in Gainesville, he had lived in the Atlanta area for more than 40 years and had been a resident of Riverdale for eight years. He was a member of the Pleasant Grove Methodist Church.

Funeral services will be held at 4:30 p.m. Monday in the chapel of Howard L. Carmichael & Sons. The Rev. Charles Graves and the Rev. C. Hoke Sewell will officiate. Burial will be in Hillcrest Cemetery.

Surviving are his wife, the former Katie Edwards; a son, E. P. Smith Jr. of Riverdale; a daughter, Mrs. George D. Caskey of East Point; three brothers, Howell L. Smith of Atlanta; Charles C. Smith of Berkeley, Calif., and Ernest Smith of New Orleans, La.; four sisters, Mrs. W. O. Swindler of Columbia, S.C., Mrs. Bess Humphries of Atlanta, Mrs. Clyde Tate of Cornelia, Mrs. Clarence Lord of Atlanta; and two grandchildren.

Mrs. Cooper, Civic Leader, Is Dead Here

Mrs. Mattie Ellis Cooper, prominent businesswoman and civic worker, of 221 14th St., NE, died Sunday morning in a private hospital after a month's illness.

Born in Griffin, she had lived in Atlanta most of her life and was associated with various business enterprises. She was the widow of the late Gus Cooper.

She was an active member of the Business and Professional Women's Club of Atlanta and the Business Women's League of the Second-Ponce de Leon Baptist Church.

Members of the organizations will serve as honorary escorts at the funeral services at 2 p.m. Monday in Spring Hill. The Rev. Dr. Monroe F. Swilley Jr. and the Rev. Dr. Charles Allen will officiate. Burial will be in Crest Lawn Cemetery.

Surviving are three sisters, Miss Kate Ellis and Mrs. Alma Smith, both of Atlanta, and Mrs. T. A. Darnell of Huntsville, Ala.; a brother, R. C. Ellis of DeLand, Fla.; a sister-in-law, Mrs. Rosaltha Ellis of Birmingham, Ala., and several nieces and nephews.

BY OWNER
1237 CUMBERLAND RD., NE
THIS lovely white brick home in perfect condition throughout is on the market only because the original owner is moving from Atlanta. It has entry hall with large living room with fireplace, full size dining room, two bedrooms, two baths, good size kitchen with plenty of cabinets, large den where you will really live. Full attic with built in cedar closet and built in shelves for storage. Complete basement with servant's toilet and laundry trays. Double-car garage. An extra large screened in porch opening on an equally as large terrace overlooks the beautifully Monroe landscaped front yard and back which is fully enclosed by a 6-foot Cyclone fence. All this plus blinds, drapes by Ray Lang, hall carpet, mirrors galore, and full-size sofa bed in den. Can be had for a good price. Call today and make appointment to see this real home that has been lived in only by the couple who built it. Act today . . . time is limited. Telephone VErnon 8116 . . . Appointment only.

A Rhyme a Day

"The stolen fur racket, which thrived in New York for years, is being plied in other cities, particularly coastal regions."—Trade note.

When mama asked me, "Do you think . . . that I shall ever own a mink" . . . I've said to her, a hundred times . . . "You don't get mink by writing rhymes . . . Nor do you get it working hard . . . In Higginbottom's Lumber Yard . . . Or any other menial task . . . You know that; so why do you ask?"

"Now, if I were in politics . . . And knew somebody I could 'fix' . . . or some unknown, great-uncle who . . . Had passed away in Timbuctoo . . . And left his piles of cash to me . . . I might unbend, to some degree . . . but, as things are, the likelihood . . . of either one is not too good."

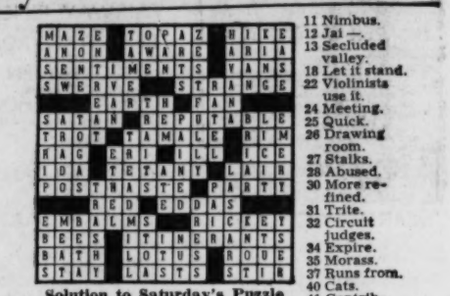

"And furthermore," I always say . . . "the interest on one would pay . . . the heat and light and water bills . . . and though I know a woman thrills . . . at wearing one, just wait a while . . . and maybe, they'll go out of style."

She's such an understanding soul . . . I think she'd settle for a stole . . . but life in prison ain't no fun . . . and she won't get a stole-n one.

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—As South you hold:

♠6 3 2 ♥— ♦K J 10 7 5 4 2 ♣7 5 4

The bidding has proceeded:

West	North	East	South
1 spade	2 hearts	Pass	?

What action do you take?

A.—Pass. The ice is very thin, and you had better not move. It would be very pleasant to bid three diamonds if you were sure your partner would not take any further action, but that would be wishful thinking. He is almost sure to bid again and probably more hearts. Your best bet is to pass and hope the opening bidder will take partner out of his misery, which usually happens. It does not pay to rescue a partner who has not been doubled.

Q. 2—As South you hold:

♠K 10 6 5 2 ♥9 ♦A 3 ♣A K J 4 2

The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
Pass	1 diamond	Double	Pass
2 hearts	Pass	2 spades	Pass
4 spades	Pass	?

What action do you take?

A.—Five diamonds or six spades. ofhtrarepuoitnctbutthababyprolxETA Despite the fact that partner previously passed, you should be very bullish about this hand because partner jumped twice unnecessarily. If he has the ace-king of hearts and the queen-jack of spades, that's all you need. He should surely have that much for his two jumps. You have a choice of bidding five diamonds or shooting the works yourself.

Q. 3—As South you hold:

♠9 7 6 2 ♥K J 7 4 ♦J 8 5 ♣6 4

The bidding has proceeded:

East	South	West	North
1 diamond	Pass	Pass	Double
Pass	1 heart	Pass	3 hearts
Pass	?

What action do you take?

A.—Four hearts. Partner's bid is not forcing and you haven't very much of a hand to be sure. But you should proceed to game inasmuch as partner has contracted for nine tricks without relying on you for any strength at all. Actually, he has the heart hand and you in reality are the dummy, which is worth six points to partner.

Q. 4—As South you hold:

♠A Q J 9 8 2 ♥K 6 3 ♦A Q 2 ♣5

The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 spade	Pass	2 diamonds	Pass

What action do you take?

A.—Three spades. After partner has shown a reasonably good hand you should insist upon game and a jump rebid even in the same suit is forcing after a response at the two level. If the bidding develops constructively you may show the diamond support later.

Q. 5—As South you hold:

♠A J 4 ♥9 4 ♦6 3 ♣A K Q 9 7 3

The bidding has proceeded:

East	South	West	North
1 spade	2 clubs	Pass	3 clubs
Pass	?

What action do you take?

A.—Three spades. The temptation, if any, to try three no trump should be resisted. Without protection in either red suit you may meet with a surprise attack. After you show the spade control you may rely on partner to reach for three no trump if his hand is suitable.

Q. 6—Both vulnerable and as South you hold:

♠K 4 ♥A J 8 2 ♦K Q 8 3 ♣A J 5

The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 no trump	Pass	3 no trump	3 spades

What action do you take?

A.—Strike while the iron is hot. Double and this is one that East will long remember. Do not aim for anything so trivial as a game when a possible 1,100-point plum awaits to be picked.

Q. 7—As South you hold:

♠A Q 8 4 ♥A K Q 2 ♦7 3 ♣6 5 2

The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 spade	Pass	2 diamonds	Pass
2 hearts	Pass	2 spades	Pass

What action do you take?

A.—A further bid by you is clearly indicated. You must not be heard to say: "Since partner has shown me a mere preference, I pass." Remember, partner has shown a fairly good hand by taking out at the level of two and your hand is worth 16 points. Bid three spades.

Q. 8—As South you hold:

♠6 2 ♥A Q J 6 3 ♦K 7 4 ♣K 7 5

The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 heart	Pass	1 spade	Pass

What is your rebid?

A.—One no trump. This is preferable to a rebid of two hearts in that it gives a more accurate description as to the type of hand (a balanced hand of minimum high - card strength). It is by no means mandatory to rebid a five-card major suit.

Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Col. Hans G., 54, recently returned to Frankfurt, Germany, after 8 years in a Russian slave labor camp.

He visited with my brother, Dr. John B. Crane, over the weekend.

"On several previous occasions I have interviewed returning German prisoners, and they have informed me that they were better fed than the Russian people.

RUSSIAN SLAVE LABOR

And the colonel then assured my brother that the Russians actually fed their German slave laborers better than they did their own average Russian citizens.

"In fact, we got more black bread than we could eat," said the colonel, "and black Russian bread is the main item on their menu.

"And they worked us only 8 hours a day, for they wanted to keep us reasonably healthy, for we had skills and ability which their own people lacked.

"One day I was dining on my hunk of black bread for lunch. Several Russian boys were standing nearby.

"So I gave a piece of my bread to one of the lads and engaged him in conversation.

"I asked him what he would like to be when he grew up.

"And, Dr. Crane, you may be surprised at his answer: He told me that he wanted to be a German prisoner when he became a man.

"So I inquired why he wanted to be a German prisoner, and he said the German prisoners get plenty of black bread to eat and work only eight hours a day."

RUSSIAN MALARKY

"If that is the level of civilization in Russia," I asked my brother, "then how do you account for so many American-born Communists? Why should any American join the Communists?"

And my brother replied that they are either grossly ignorant and easily misled by glowing Russian propaganda, or they are disgruntled Americans who hope to grab off top positions of authority by upsetting our Republic and putting Russia in power in America.

Connecticut claims it has more acres of public parks and spends more money for public libraries than any other U.S. state.

CONSTIPATED?

Read this message from Mrs. G. F. Hunter of Winston-Salem, N.C.

"My trouble with constipation dates quite a while back. And most of the laxatives I used in the past were either too harsh or too slow.

"Then, I heard about Sal Hepatica from a friend—and now I'm a friend for life of Sal Hepatica. It really does the trick. Now when I have that logy, constipated feeling in the evening, I take Sal Hepatica a half hour before dinner and I'm fit as a fiddle by bedtime."

Yes, take sparkling Sal Hepatica before breakfast and feel fine again . . usually within an hour. Or, take it in the evening one-half hour before supper and feel fine again by bedtime! Sweetens sour stomach, too! So keep Sal Hepatica handy in your medicine chest.

DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

School Health Agents Safeguard Children

The health of 30 million school children is promoted and maintained through the combined efforts of parents, educators, nurses, dentists, and physicians.

Health promotion should be part of the curriculum of every institution because only healthy children obtain maximum learning.

The law, in some states, requires at least three examinations during school life.

These checkups are worth while if for no other reason than because they uncover defects that might endanger the life or education of the child.

When leakage of the heart, for example, is discovered for the first time during the preschool physical, the physician can advise parents and teachers about the necessity for avoiding infection and overexertion.

If the defect is not detected, and the boy or girl indulges in strenuous childhood activities, the consequences are obvious.

The hardships resulting from unrecognized visual or hearing disturbances are better known. The family always feels guilty on learning that Johnny failed to make the grade because he could not hear the teacher or see what she wrote on the blackboard.

A hearing aid or glasses, as the case may be, corrects the situation but meanwhile several school years were wasted because the abnormality went unrecognized.

School health departments also cope with accidents, as emergencies occur in the best organized schools. More recently, many schools have been stressing civil defense and are prepared to meet disasters.

Teachers and school nurses and physicians are on the alert for contagious diseases, which spread rapidly through classrooms.

There is no other place where children are brought together is so large a group and at a time of life when they are most susceptible to communicable diseases.

School health departments also have a wonderful opportunity to lay the groundwork for everlasting health.

For every mature oyster, a million or more are killed in immature stages, says the National Geographic Society.

NORGE does the Impossible!

New 1955 AUTOMATIC DRYER!

FULL-SIZED — DRIES A BIG LOAD OF CLOTHES FAST!

DRIES BEAUTIFULLY WITH 110 OR 220 CURRENT!

LARGE KNEE-OPEN DOOR LEAVES BOTH HANDS FREE!

NO COSTLY INSTALLATION — READY TO USE WHEN IT'S DELIVERED!

30 DAY MONEY-BACK GUARANTEE OF SATISFACTION!

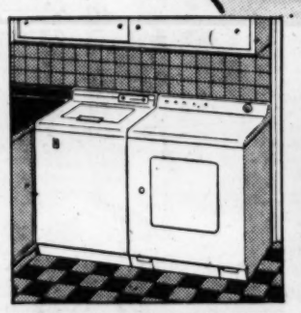

5 WAYS SELF-VENTING — NO SPECIAL FITTINGS NEEDED!

MORE AIR, LESS HEAT—The now-famous Norge principle of greater air power combined with lower heat and gentle tumbling makes this dryer so much easier on clothes. Heat never goes above 140°. Triple-size fan pours 150 cu. ft. of fresh air per minute directly into clothes.

DRYING'S A CINCH—Simply load your wash in the Norge and set the Timer knob. No wet clothes to lug outdoors, no soot-soiled or rain-streaked washes, no sun-faded colors or wind-torn fabrics. And your towels will be fluffier, knit togs softer, sheets so much easier to iron.

FULL SIZE, NOT A "JUNIOR" MODEL—This handsome new Norge Dryer holds a full-sized load of clothes, teams perfectly with your automatic washer. The cylinder, clothes port and door are all extra-large for easy loading. And the work-surface top is standard 36" counter height.

NORGE'S 30-DAY MONEY-BACK GUARANTEE—If, after using the Norge Dryer in your own home for 30 days, you are not completely satisfied—your Norge dealer will refund your money in full. (This is in addition to the usual long-term parts warranties.)

Now! Automatic drying within reach of every homemaker. Norge has done the seemingly impossible—designed an electric dryer that sells for under $150, yet outperforms many luxury models costing up to half again as much! See it demonstrated now! (Gas model also available.)
